EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. LORD, JR. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadlephia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, On this late date in our civilization and in the forward looking practice of Democracy I was today twice shocked into the realization that as a Body we are retrogressing, instead of progressing with the times.

I make particular reference to secret votes taken on two important measures in two different committees this day.

From the time I was old enough to appreciate the advantages of a democarcy over all other forms of government each day made me not only more proud to be an American, but in later years, upon my election to the Senate, I simply glowed with pleasure at the opportunity to serve the public within the beautiful framework provided for us.

I must confess that this day my faith has been severly shaken. Behind the cloak of secrecy in Committee we have proven beyond doubt that we give only lip service to what we preach.

I do not question the sincerity of any member of this Body and I will fight for the right of every one to vote his conscience whether I believe it to be right or wrong. But I think any of us who insist upon secret vote are moral and political cowards and have no right to participate in Democratic process.

Mr. President, if the time ever comes when I cannot conscientiously stand up and be counted for or against any measure, whether it be action in Committee or on the floor of this House, I shall know that I have outlived my usefulness to serve the public or to live with my own conscience, and it will then be time for me to quit.

God forbid that I should ever reach that point in my thinking and I promise here and now to dedicate myself from this day forward to amend our Senate rules so that secret voting will hereafter be prohibited.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to have the record note that in my opinion Tuesday, April 5, 1949, will be marked in the Pennsylvania Senate as the day of infamy.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as one who was also twice defeated today in Committee meetings, I think I have the right to speak freely on a matter of deep concern to the Senate.

Mr. President, they tell me that in the past, here in this Legislative Body, discussions in Committee meetings and the records of votes in Committee meetings were discussions in confidence among gentlemen, and were maintained in strictest confidence; that there and there only could you have freedom of expression and honesty of mental reaction and a crystalization of public opinion, because the men involved in such committee meeting knew that they were surrounded by a tacit agreement with their colleagues that they would keep matters in Committee in confidence.

Mr. President, since the time I have become a Member of this Senate, matters that happened in the Republican Caucus, matters that happened in the Democratic Caucus matters that happened in committee sessions, regardless of the pledge of secrecy, have become matters of common knowledge before the Committee or the Caucus had reached the Senate floor. We no longer find Members of Committees freely discussing or giving their advice on legislation, because no matter what they say in strict confidence becomes front page news, because some Members of the Committee or some Members of the Caucus or some Members of this Body have not learned as yet that a confidential matter is confidential. I find no fault with a Committee of this Senate the members of which are desirous of expressing the will of that Committee by an open ballot or by a written ballot. No member of this Senate is barred at any time from stating publicly how he voted on any measure in Committee or on the floor of this Senate, but certainly his colleagues are entitled to the determination of confidence that has been a settled matter in this Legislative Body for several generations.

Mr. President, I have no doubt, and I appreciate the sincerity of the gentleman from Philadelphia, that he is perfectly willing to stand up and be counted at all times on any measure which his judgment is called upon to be exercised. I, too, join with him in that view. I am perfectly willing to stand up and be counted at any time, but I insist that my colleagues shall not be spoken for by any of the other forty-nine gentlemen of this Senate. They are entitled to express their opinion in their own way at the proper time that they deem necessary, and they have as much right to have a reservation on their vote as I have to have mine expressed freely and willingly.

Mr. President, I do not think that this is a day of infamy, this is a day for a couple of tough losses for some of us. The losses were not confined to either of the major political parties, party lines were crossed in both instances. We had the opportunity of doing the things that must be done and we lost. I do not think that we have lost the war, we have just lost the battle, and I am perfectly willing to pick it up from there, but I insist that at all times the Members of these committees have the right to have a secret ballot, if that is the opinion of the committee, because in that way crystalization of opinion and the free exchange of thought will be unhampered by this whispering that goes on at all times.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, just to keep the record straight, I received this morning a letter from the Westmont Church of the Brethren, of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, signed by The Reverend David H. Markie, Pastor, stating that his congregation deeply regrets the fact that I voted "no" in committee on Senate Bill No. 63.

Now, Mr. President, I am not on that committee. How this information got in the papers, I do not know. It seems to me it is very unfair, first of all, to attack a man on how he voted in committee, and secondly, when that man is not a member of that committee.

I wish to make that a matter of record, Mr. President.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, our Government in Washington has existed for quite a long time, and I do not agree with everything that is done in Washington, but never in the history of our National Government, and I have checked this since these meetings today, has there ever been a secret ballot taken in any committee in our National Government, and it should not be instituted here.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that I personally do not know but I am assuming that he is in possession of the information as to whether or not they take secret ballots in the committees in our Federal legislative halls in Washington, but it has been my observation that the gentlemen in Congress, even though they outnumber us numerically, at least there is no leaks out of their committee meetings as to the discussions that took place or how the gentlemen desired to be recorded.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, that is always public information, and I refer his mind back to just several weeks ago, on the Taft-Hartley Bill, when it came out on a strictly party vote, and each name was placed in the public print.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FLEMING and STUART.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 49.

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1949.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has the most extensive and best system of highways in the entire United States; and

Whereas, The maintenance of this vast network of highways costs tremendous sums of taxpayers' money annually; and

Whereas, During the past several sessions of the General Assembly, the problem of regulating the permissible size and weights of trucks, which affects the wear and tear on and maintenance costs of our highways has been a pressing one; and

Whereas, This serious problem has arisen largely because the trucking industry claims it is being treated unfavorably by this Commonwealth both as to discrimination as between this and other states in the maximum size and weights permitted and as to the damage and wear and tear trucks cause to the Pennsylvania highway systems, which claims have been countered by equally effective evidence to the contrary by various groups; now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to survey, investigate and consider the problem of the weight and size of trucks that can and should be permitted on the highways of this Commonwealth, especially as compared with the permitted weights and size in adjoining and other states, the effect of such weights and sizes on the highways and the costs of maintenance and repair, and all matters pertinent and relevant thereto, and to report its findings and conclusions to the next session of the General Assembly together with a bill or bills embodying the same.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. STUART and FLEMING.

RESOLUTION No. 50.

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1949.

Whereas, Every college student should be familiar not only with the history but also with the government of his state; and

Whereas, College students intending to teach in the public schools of this Commonwealth should have a particularly thorough schooling in such subjects; and

Whereas, Valuable to each such prospective teacher would be a first-hand study of state government in action at the State Capitol; now therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, That the Department of Public Instruction is hereby directed to make a study of ways and means to bring to Harrisburg for periods of a week, various groups of selected students from each of the State Teachers' Colleges in order that they may study their state government in operation by observation. Such study shall embrace the method of choosing such students, the number from each college to be chosen, the itinerary of such study, and the method of financing such a project. In addition, the Department shall consider and report on the feasibility of housing such groups at Indiantown Gap during their week at Harrisburg. The Department shall embody the results of its study into a written report which it shall present to the General Assembly not later than April 1, 1949.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WOOD and ANDREWS.

RESOLUTION No. 51.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO SURVEY THE SPECIAL HAZARDS CONFRONTING CERTAIN STATE EMPLOYES IN THE PERFORMANCE OF THEIR DUTIES AND TO REPORT REGARDING THIS MATTER TO THE NEXT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1949.

Whereas, It is contended that in certain departments of the State Government employes, in the performance of their duties, are subjected to conditions which are deleterious to their health and in many cases are exposed to injuries resulting in disability and premature death; and

Whereas, In order to meet the financial losses incurred by these employes and their families under such conditions, various requests, from time to time, are made of the General Assembly to provide benefits more liberal than those now available to State employes through the State Employes' Retirement System; and

Whereas, No comprehensive study has been made of these conditions referred to; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby authorized to make the studies necessary to ascertain what these occupational hazards are and report its findings to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WEISS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 52.

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1949.

Whereas, Article II, section eighteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires the General Assembly to apportion the State into proper senatorial and representative districts immediately after each United States decennial census, and

Whereas, There has been no such senatorial and representative apportionment of this State since the year 1921, and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Bar Association and the people of this State have on numerous occasions voiced their protest against the failure of the General Assembly to comply with this constitutional mandate, and

Whereas, The United States decennial census to be made in the year 1950 will afford a current and proper basis on which the next regular session of the General Assembly may comply with this constitutional mandate, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of fourteen be appointed, consisting of seven members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, and seven members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker, to make a study of the proper apportionment of the State into congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and as soon as the reports of the 1950 United States decennial census are available, to recommend proper apportionments in conformity with the provisions of the Constitution and the results of such census, and to present to the next regular session of the General Assembly apportionment bills, establishing such proper apportionments, to the end that the mandate of the Constitution be complied with.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to note the presence in the Hall of the House today, in his usual place, the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Coleman. The Chair wishes to commend him for his faithful attendance to duty, having just yesterday evening been involved in a very serious accident. The Chair is pleased to see him with us today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRUNNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I well remember during the month of May in 1945 I was unfortunate enough to have a serious automobile accident in the County of Monroe and I believe the gentleman, Mr. Coleman, came to the hospital to pay his respects, to wish me recovery, and I greatly appreciated his efforts at that time.

I am pleased to note that it will be unnecessary for me to visit the gentleman at the hospital since he does not seem to have incurred the same injury or injury to the same extent that I did. I am certainly pleased to see him today attending to his tasks.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the cordial sentiments expressed by the Majority Leader. I only hope that it will not be necessary for us on this side of the House to request police protection for members of the minority as they come and go to the Legislature in order that we may not be ridden down by a majority party bureaucrat.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, may I assure the gentleman that we will not in any way interfere with the egress and ingress of the members of the minority side of the House to Harrisburg, until such time as their majority is 105 in the House, which I trust will never occur.

Forney to announce that buses to take the members to the Federated Legislative Committee luncheon will leave from the plaza at the center front door entrance of the Capitol promptly at the 12:15 recess today and these buses will bring the members back after lunch.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise with some fear in my heart to say anything about this bill, because I believe of all the Members in this House there is no one less qualified to speak on apple raising than I will be.

I also recognize the fact that the sponsor of this bill, in whom I have the greatest confidence in his judgment generally, has only one thought in mind, and that is to further the apple industry in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and with that I would be very much in accord.

However, I rise only to caution the House that we are stepping forward on a program today in enacting this bill by creating another commission, a commission, if you gentlemen please, that will attempt to regulate an industry in Pennsylvania, another hamstringing of industry generally. If we were to have an apple commission why not a nut commission, a wheat commission, a corn commission and every other thing that we could grow. In my opinion, and I believe in the opinion of many people of this Commonwealth, this is in direct opposition to the theory of government which propounds the theory of free enterprise. I think this is the type of legislation that we should not pass in Pennsylvania. I feel on the other hand that we should oppose this particular type of legislation. I think we have enough regulation in this Commonwealth. I certainly would oppose the passage of this measure at this time.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, first of all I appreciate the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming. I have the same feeling toward him that he has expressed toward me.

One thing that he says, that we are probably establishing a precedent here, may be right. My answer to that would be that if we are establishing a good precedent I have no fear at all about establishing it. I am not at all fearful of other organizations coming in and asking for the same consideration and legislation for this reason, of all the different types of agriculture there is none other that compares with the apple industry in Pennyslvania. A man can get into the poultry business overnight; a man can get into the dairy business overnight. It is not a good policy to do that, I realize.

I can raise one hundred bushels of potatoes this year and next year I might have none, but fruit growing, apple growing is a long time proposition—you can't get into it overnight. You may go eight or ten years without any returns, and in that time economic conditions can change a great deal.

I would like further to reply to the gentleman and say this, that the apple industry is always willing to solve its own problems rather than lean on governmental support. We have plenty of precedent for this particular bill. The State of Washington, which is a competitor of ours, spends annually a half million dollars in advertising. The State of California spends three million dollars on its citrus industry; Florida spends two million; and Texas spends a half million dollars, and there are others as we go down the line that spend similar amounts of money.

I would like further to state that the apple industry in Pennsylvania is a very important part of our agriculture. We stand fourth in the nation in production, and if you think it is a small industry, in 1945, the last figures that I have available—when we had a small crop—in that particular year, the Department of Agriculture estimates that this industry, this particular crop was worth something over fifteen million dollars.

In addition to that, in our neighboring counties we have millions of dollars tied up in processing plants. The machinery that goes to fruit farmers is very extensive and very expensive also.

So, all in all, this is a most important industry in Pennsylvania, and as I have shown you, we are not undertaking to establish a precedent. Other states have it. For example, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia have it at the present time, Michigan is now operating in this way, and at the present time there is pending in the Ohio Legislature a similar bill. Also since this bill has been entered here, I have had requests from New Jersey and Illinois for copies of the bill. I do not think it is establishing a precedent here, and as I said previously, if it is a good precedent let us adopt it. I ask the Members of the House to give this serious consideration before casting their vote.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I want to say here, as was said on the other side, that I entertain very high respect for the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Goodling, in his attempted efforts to enhance the value of the apple industry of our great state. However, I would like to interrogate Mr. Goodling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOODLING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman mind telling us what benefits to the general public of our state would be derived by the enactment of this piece of legislation?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, we hope to give the general public a better product through the enactment of this legislation.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, in improving the apple product, is there not ample information and instruction imported by our state and the federal government to sufficiently improve the apple industry so that it may ably compete with the same industry in other states of this nation, or even in other countries?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I just said a little while ago that other states in the United States have this type of legislation operating at the present time.

Mr. NAGEL. Will the gentleman kindly tell us how long this arrangement has been working in other states?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, in the state of Washington, which was the first, I believe—I do not know the exact time, but it has been operating for several years.

I would like to say while I am on Washington that they are paying five cents a bushel to market their apples and we are asking one cent. The state of Michigan has had a similar bill in operation for a great length of time. Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia—as I recall now, the Virginia act was enacted about four years ago, Maryland about two years ago and Virginia about two years ago.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask to what extent the apple industry of Pennsylvania will suffer in case this piece of legislation is not enacted?

Mr. GOODLING. In 1936 the apple industry in this Appalachian belt of which we are a part, saw the need for some work of this particular kind. At that time the four states I have mentioned had organizations. An organization was formed, and the original budget as I recall was twenty thousand dollars, a very small amount for advertising. Out of that results were obtained from that organization so outstanding that it was felt that we needed additional money, and that has been the reason for the introduction of these bills in the state at this time.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his replies to my questions.

Now, Members of the House, it is far from me to stand in the way of the passage of any bill in this General Assembly that might be to the best interests of the public, but I am wondering, as it has been said before, whether or not in a movement of this kind you are establishing a precedent that might be followed by other industries of our state, and come to such a place when the industries of our state would be so regulated and so hampered by laws and restrictions that we might call it a state of regimentation. Whether other growers or agricultural groups couldn't come in and ask for the same things.

Now, it has been the western section of our country that has been referred to as great competition in the apple industry, but I am here to say that there is a big space of land that separates Washington state from the state of Pennsylvania, and while Washington can, it must be admitted, produce a more beautiful apple, a more attractive apple than we can produce in Pennsylvania, yet I defy Washington state to produce an apple of the quality that Pennsylvania produces. Furthermore I feel that the quality of the apples is being improved from year to year, and that the appearance of the apple is being improved by the apple industries of our country through the efforts made by our state and federal governments.

I believe the apple industry of Pennsylvania, the men who have joined together to promote this great industry to the welfare of the public is able and can stand on its own feet, without legislation to back it up. I ask the Members of the House to take into consideration these facts and then vote as you see will benefit the most people of our state. I thank you.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I don't want to keep up this debate very much longer. This legislation, I believe, stands on its own merits. In reply to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagel, I might say that we have some precedent in the state on this particular thing. Our Milk Control Commission is not exactly similar to this bill, but it does regulate the milk and dairy industry in the state of Pennsylvania. For that reason we have one precedent in our own state.

One other thing I want to mention. There has been some criticism that this will add to the cost to the consumer. There are a lot of farmers in this House. If any of the Members can tell us how the farmers will add to the cost of this product, we will be glad to have you do that. We are still under the impression that it will not add to the cost of the product that we sell, and for that reason it definitely will not add to the cost to the consumer.

Mr. CLAPPER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOODLING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CLAPPER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that this bill is sponsored and desired by the State Fruit Grower's Association as a whole, or by the group only in your county?

Mr. GOODLING. This bill is sponsored by the State Horticultural organization; it is their bill. Being a Member of this House, I have sponsored the bill.

Mr. CLAPPER. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me about what amount of money the apple bill would bring into the Association in funds?

Mr. GOODLING. Our annual apple crop in Pennsylvania runs between six million and ten million dollars. The normal crop, I would say is in the neighborhood of ten million bushels, which would bring in anywhere from sixty thousand to eighty thousand a year.

Mr. CLAPPER. Could the gentleman tell us just what this money is to be used for?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, as stated in the text of the bill it is used for research. You have probably read the bill and know how it will be administered. We feel that it will be pretty well handled in the hands of this body. I might say, that on this Commission will be the Secretary of Agriculture and Secretary of Commerce.

Mr. CLAPPER. That will be all. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I too have great respect for the sponsor of this bill. I feel that the bill as it has been read by many of the members is a bill that will work a hardship upon many fruit growers of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I represent a county where a large number of fruit growers are at work. The majority of these groups oppose this bill. I realize there are times when funds are needed to increase progress along certain lines of industry, but at the same time I believe that if the Members of the Assembly will acquaint themselves with the work of the Department of Agriculture they will find that every summer, there are many classes held at State College for the benefit of the fruit growers of Pennsylvania. I have attended many of these classes at various times and I have found them to be very valuable instruction. They also teach many of the things that I believe the funds provided for in this bill would be used for at a later date, and I as a representative of a county having a great many fruit growers, would ask the Members of the House to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 975

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution which was read and considered as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1949.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 975:

An Act prohibiting certain practices of discrimination by employers, employment agencies and labor organizations as herein defined and others because of race, color, religious creed, national origin or ancestry creating the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission defining its functions powers and duties providing for the procedure and enforcement and for formulation of an educational program to prevent prejudice providing for judicial review and enforcement imposing penalties and making an appropriation.

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on March 3, 1949.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 975 does not belong to Representative Mintess; it does not belong to Representative Sax, it does not belong to the Republican party; it does not belong to the Democratic party; it belongs to the people this Commonwealth.

House Bill 975 represents, Mr. Speaker, more than an ordinary political commitment. It represents a solemn promise; it represents a promise made by the Governor of this Commonwealth. It represents a promise made by the Republic party in Pennsylvania; it represents a promise made by the Democratic party.

Mr. Speaker, I well recognize the hesitancy with which many of the Members of the House approach the duty of discharging a Committee. There are unusual features in this situation. I can say to the Democratic Members on this side of the House that while this bill was in the hands of a House Committee prior to the time that the bill was introduced, the Democratic State Committee promised that this bill would be introduced and passed.

I can say to the Republican Members on that side of the House that prior to the time that House Bill 975 was introduced, the Executive Committee of the Republican party, the candidates of the Republican party, the platform of the Republican party promised the people of this Commonwealth that legislation similar to House Bill 975 would be introduced, reported from Committee and duly adopted.

I can say in all sincerity to the Members on both sides of this House that I believe a promise made by the Democratic State Committee and promise made by the Republican Platform Committee and a promise made by the Members of this House as individual candidates takes precedence over any procedure which might ordinarily lead us to refuse to discharge a committee.

Unfortunately it has come about that the expectation that the bill which I accepted and which many of you accepted would be released in the other branch of this General Assembly has fallen, as a result of an adverse vote. Had either branch of this General Assembly released an indifferent or even an unsatisfactory F.E.P.C. bill I would not have been on the floor today. I would have taken my chances with any bill that the other branch of this Assembly would have released for consideration by this chamber and would have taken my chances on my ability to amend it in proper fashion.

I am taking this step today as the only course consistent with the honor, the political honor of the Governor of the Commonwealth, the political honor of the Republican party in this state, and the political honor of the Democratic party. Vain are our promises indeed if this House in its power cannot redeem a promise to which we are all solemnly committed by the parliamentary act of discharging a Committee from further consideration of a bill which was the keystone of the platform which the major parties offered to the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of the Labor Relations Committee, I am going to vote for this resolution.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker——

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. WORLEY. For the purpose of a parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, may I speak only in support of the motion or may I speak generally on the bill at this time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Adams that his remarks must be confined to the resolution and not to the main question, which is not before the House. The bill is in the Committee and not before the House.

Mr. WORLEY. Then I may only speak on the resolution, is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, although I have never made a motion to discharge a Committee of my own party or any Committee during the entire seven years I have been a Member of this Legislature, I am nevertheless voting for this resolution, because I want to see the Fair Employment Practice Act passed, and from my experience in prior session I have found that a motion to discharge seems to be the only way to get action on this legislation for the promotion of economic justice in our democracy.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, during the luncheon period today I had occasion to discuss this proposed resolution with a number of Members of this House of the Republican persuasion. They informed me that they were for the bill but they just found it was impossible for them because of their Republicanism to support a bill to discharge.

I want to say to those people with whom I spoke today as well as to the others who take that same position, that you cannot be for FEPC and oppose this resolution. I also say to you that this is, as Mr. Andrews said, a pledge made by both Republican and Democratic parties, and no individual members, leader or otherwise in this House has any right to demand of you to oppose this motion merely because it is a matter of party policy. Your party policy is to support FEPC, and if you oppose this resolution you oppose FEPC and you can't tell anybody else that you are for it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not know just how far afield we may go on this resolution. I agree with my Floor Leader, Mr. Andrews, that you have had full and plenty time to consider this motion, because he has threatened it on different occasions. As a Member of the Labor Committee and other Committees of this House, if I may say, we go far afield on legislation; the legislation is not even considered in Committee; not only on this bill, but many others.

I am sorry to find that we offer discharge resolutions on bills that have never been considered in the Committee. Even if we did discharge the Committee and pass a bill in the House of Representatives after the action taken by the upper body, I feel sorry at what will happen.

My complaint here, is not on the motion to discharge the Committee. I have always voted to discharge all Committees from further consideration of legislation, to bring it to the floor of the House and have Members vote their convictions either for or against the legislation—that is my principle. I have fought for that ever since I have been a Member of the General Assembly, but I say to you today that this should be a warning to you to inform your Committee Chairman and our Committees as we sit down and consider legislation not to be in any hurry to have shortcuts in a Democracy, that it is well worth the time we spend here in consideration of this legislation. Let us be fair with ourselves and the Committee. Then if we see fit in Committee, then I say discharge resolutions are in order. So my friends, let us think of what has happened here today so that we may give the rest of the legislation its time for consideration.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, this is the first motion to discharge a Committee that has been presented to the Membership at this session. I have no doubt that many more will follow in due course.

I think that before I speak further on this question, I would like to take issue with the statement that a vote either for or against this resolution is a vote for or against the merits of the measure. That in my judgment is not correct. We do not even debate the measure or its merits on this resolution.

I would also like to take issue with the gentleman who says that he has at all times supported motions to discharge Committees from consideration of bills. My memory goes back in this House to 1939, and bringing my recollection forward to the 1941 session, at which time I believe his party had a majority on the floor of this House, the gentleman at that time recognized that the one established procedure recognized for generations in this House was for select committees of this House to receive the Member's legislation and to give consideration to it.

I am in a position of saying, as I have said on the floor of this House before, and as I will say again, that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and all of its citizens should know by this time that the Governor supports FEPC legislation, that he has openly admitted to the people that it was a part of the platform of the Republican party. I was present during the 1947 session of this legislature, when he did all possible to see that a measure of this type was enacted, and since that time and during this session he has consistently maintained that position.

I think some of you will recall my having stood here then and personally subscribe to that program. But lest there be any misunderstanding, may I say truthfully that as Majority Leader of this House of Representatives, I subscribe to the cause of FEPC legislation, but during the twelve years that I have been a Member of this House I recognize the fact that we have this established legislative procedure. I have recognized that our Committees have been entrusted with the duty to consider this legislation. I have not yet nor has any other legislative body within my recollection superimposed its judgment upon the judgment of any Committee of this House, and therefore, I am consistent with that proposition and that position.

I have no complaint with my good friend from Cambria submitting a motion to discharge a Committee from consideration of a measure sponsored by two major parties. I do not overlook, however, the fact that he himself has a bill before this same Committee.

It takes me back to 1945 when I think the gentleman will remember I had a bill in a House Committee dealing with the subject of oleo—and incidentally I subscribe to the objectives of that measure now as I did then, and the gentleman stood up on the floor of this House and presented a resolution to discharge that Committee from consideration of my bill. And to be consistent as I ought to be and to be as I hope even everyone will be in regard to this resolution, I voted against the discharge of the Committee from the consideration of my own bill. Therefore, we do not discuss the merits, although I subscribe to the idea and the objective of the legislation. This is a question as to whether you superimpose the judgment of this House against the judgment of any committee, and I am accordingly again asking that you oppose this resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we are not fighting the battles of 1939, nor are we fighting the battles of 1945. We are facing a very definite issue.

Does any Committee of this House have a right to repudiate a promise of a party? I would say to you in all sincerity, Mr. Speaker, that the moment we admit that a Committee of this House can repudiate a party promise, then party responsibility becomes a mockery and we cease to be a democracy.

Have we actually arrived at a point in the history of this Commonwealth where a Governor, a Republican party, a Democratic party can go before the people with definite promises and then eight or ten or twenty men can say that the promises the party has made, the promises the parties have made or the promises his excellency the Governor has made are of no import? I not only plead, Mr. Speaker, for the release of this bill, but I plead with this House for the reestablishment of party responsibility to the end that the people of Pennsylvania may have a restored faith in parliamentary government.

I say to the Member of this House in all sincerity that one of the menaces that threaten Democracy is a growing distrust of party responsibility, a growing impression upon the part of the public that parties make promises which legislators are at liberty to repudiate. And so, Mr. Speaker, not only in the interests of this bill, not only in the interests of the promises made but in the interest of parliamentary government itself, I ask the Members of this House to bring this bill out upon the floor.

I would request a roll call Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Labor Relations.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Bower, has your Committee ever had under discussion the particular bill in question?

Mr. BOWER. I feel that is a Committee matter, not to be developed on the floor of the House.

Mr. SCHMIDT. The gentleman has read the press statements, Mr. Speaker, has he not, to the effect that the Chamber of Commerce of the state of Pennsylvania is in direct opposition to the FEPC legislation?

Mr. BOWER. I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Has the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, also read the statements in the nawspapers that Mr. Owlett of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association is in opposition to the FEPC legislation?

Mr. BOWER. That is not pertinent to the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. And is the gentleman also familiar with the fact that I introduced a FEPC Bill?

Mr. BOWER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. And is it in the gentleman's Committee?

Mr. BOWER. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Now, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BOWER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Why can the gentleman not get action on that bill in your committee?

Mr. BOWER. That is a secret of the Committee, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

May I interrogate Mr. Moran, a member of that Committee?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MORAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, are you a Member of the Committee in question?

Mr. MORAN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Has the gentleman been attending the meetings of that committee?

Mr. MORAN. There haven't been any to my knowledge, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHMIDT. During the gentleman's time as a member of this Committee, has any FEPC legislation been discussed?

Mr. MORAN. Not when I was present, as I recall.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, here is a Committee that has before it a bill that has not even been considered, and yet there is objection because we are asking for the discharge of that Committee that has taken no action whatsoever on that bill; legislation which has been promised to the people of this Commonwealth by the Governor of this state and by each of the major parties.

Now, I am personally interested in this bill because I happen to belong to a race that is covered by this bill. I have spoken in behalf of it as have many Members of this House, on both sides of the House. How can I go back to my people and tell them that I voted in opposition to a resolution to discharge a Committee because of a custom in this House that no Committee is discharged whether or not it considers the bill.

Now, I repeat what I said before, and the Majority Leader to the contrary notwithstanding, that any one opposing this motion opposes FEPC. FEPC has been before this House in the 1945 session, in the 1947 session and now in this session, and is meeting the same reception. I say to each and every one of these Members, you know what FEPC stands for, you know what it means and you know that when you vote against this motion, if you so see fit, you are voting against FEPC.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I had the good fortune to listen at the luncheon today to an inspiring address by the Governor of this Commonwealth. We have reached the point today where we have to count noses.

I want to call your attention and the attention of the House to the solemn pledges made by both political parties, and that we have reached the point where we have to count noses. And, contrary to the statements made by the Majority Leader in regard to the discharge of the Committee, I want again to reiterate that by voting against this resolution to discharge the Committee you are being counted as being opposed to FEPC legislation.

I think it is about time we got away from the evasions and subterfuges that have been used in the past, and that we should now favor FEPC legislation, and vote for the discharge of the committee. I say it is high time in this House, for those who have the courage to stand up and say what they believe on this type of legislation.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, you are now given an opportunity to see whether the majority party loves minorities as well in April as they do in October and November. I was really surprised and ashamed as a Member of this House, as a previous speaker mentioned that behind a lot of double talk by the majority party and whoever represents the majority party, and behind secret ballots and secret meetings and behind legal technicalities, what we really wanted was something that rightfully belongs to the people of Pennsylvania. This is the time and the hour for the count to be taken, and as previously stated, a vote against this motion is definitely against FEPC.

I would say to the Members of the House, because it is time, Members of the General Assembly, that you quit kidding the public, you have done it long enough. I feel if Governor Duff has promised and intends to carry it out, I say definitely that if he wants this legislation, he can get it. If he is interested enough in FEPC legislation, he can get it.

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe with Mr. Weiss that if the Governor wanted this legislation passed it would be passed. Now, you have about twenty men on this Committee, and I don't see how the Members of this House can refuse to give the body of this House an opportunity to vote on this type of legislation, and I believe that the Committee should be discharged.

I want to read an article here from the Pittsburgh Press, and I believe it will give you a pretty good idea as to how the people of Pennsylvania feel about the Republican party and such a resolution as this.

THE GOP AND MARGARINE

> Republican spokesmen keep wondering how they can gain the confidence of the plain people. It now is admitted, even by most Republicans, that the average run of citizens just doesn't trust the Republican Party. There is a feeling that it serves selfish interests.
> The answer to the question about gaining confidence is that it depends on performance. Not on promises. Not on some sudden display of concern. Not through the soothing words of some press agent or advertising expert.
> It depends on day-by-day actions of a kind that will convince the average voter that the Republicans are interested in him.

Now, I believe that the policy of the Republican party is interested in seeing to it that these people who will benefit by this legislation—if they want to see these people given the same opportunity that we have in life, I believe they will vote to discharge this Committee.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as the proponent of this measure, I would request the privilege of closing the discussion.

If the gentleman from Indiana desires to speak I yield to him.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHMIDT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman if I understood his one statement correctly when he said he represented a race covered by this bill.

Mr. SCHMIDT. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

That statement in itself in my opinion is justification for rejection of this resolution to discharge this Committee. That statement in itself is justification for the passage of no FEPC bill. When we come to the place in the halls of the Legislature of the Commonwealths and states of the United States, where we have to take up legislation on that question, then we deny the very existence of our own being here.

The gentleman's own presence on this floor as a race, if he cares to class himself as a race—I call him an American citizen—is evidence of the fact that we do not need any FEPC bill. The very fact that on the floor of this House sits one of the greatest constitutional lawyers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is evidence of the fact that there is freedom, that there is opportunity for any man once he proves his own worth and his own mettle.

The further fact that I myself am standing here, coming as I do from an economic condition and situation in a family where you would least expect it to happen is evidence of the fact that if you have it and can produce it, there is opportunity.

I say to you here, Members of this House, and to the public at large that the very minute we begin to legislate on race, color or creed we are trespassing on the principles of democracy. We are not only transgressing on the principles of democracy but we are transgressing over onto the God-given rights of every man to life and liberty, the opportunity to do things that are given to him as an American citizen. The argument that the gentleman used, therefore, I say, because it covers race is justification for the rejection of this resolution. I ask you to vote it down.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman from Westmoreland desires to make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria yields to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRUNNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in the gentleman's statement before this House did he mean to infer that there was some time that I voted against the discharge of a Committee?

Mr. BRUNNER. It is my recollection, Mr. Speaker—and my recollection is not perfect, but until it is proven to the contrary it is my recollection that the gentleman did during the 1941 session, when his party was the majority party in this House and when the Committees were composed of a majority of the majority party.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, may I add this, that if the gentleman at this time assures me that during the 1941 session he did not, I will accept his statement.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

To my knowledge I have never voted against the discharge of a Committee. Over a long period of years I may have done so—circumstances alter cases, I will admit.

Gentlemen, you may laugh, but I say to you that there is no one who has proven yet that I did vote against such a resolution. Until you come with the story and show the Legislative Journal and the bill and the time, I stand as never voting any time in my knowledge against the discharge of a Committee.

Let us be fair about things. I want to say to you that it has been my knowledge in this House that if I had a bill in a Committee, I first would ask the Committee Chairman to consider that legislation, and I have tried to do that very thing. I have tried to live up to the rules and regulations of this House. They may not always be to my liking, but at least I try to live by the rules and regulations laid down by the House of Representatives. I want to say to you gentlemen that to my knowledge I have not ever voted against the discharge of a Committee. As Mr. Brunner says, he is not sure, then I am not sure.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, by reason of having been born of a mother and father of a minority group, as I would say many of you in the Hall of this Legislature were born, I do not speak principally for myself, but I stand here speaking for those minority groups. I hope that the gentleman from Indiana will never have occasion to feel the prejudce that the members of minority groups have had to feel when seeking employment in industry or otherwise engaging in economic endeavor.

Yes, we have the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States granting this freedom and that freedom, but yet it was necessary to introduce into the Halls of Congress of the United States a Civil Rights program, and here in Pennsylvania we also found it necessary to have an equal Civil Rights program and an FEPC program. I say to you, each and every one of you, that you must live with yourselves not only here today but at your home town and wherever you may go, and I want to say to you that if you feel that you can't because of prejudice or because of some other feeling, whether it is party loyalty as you call it and oppose this resolution that is before you now, then I say God be with you.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, no other member insisting upon bieng recognized, I will claim the privilege.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to be recognized?

Mr. BRUNNER. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it would be unfortunate if we permitted ourselves to be diverted from the major issue which we face. What I may have done in the past, what the gentleman form Westmoreland may have done in the past what my party may have done in the past, what your party, Mr. Speaker, may have done in the past, bears little relation to the duties which we face today.

No Committee, Mr. Chairman, is bound to report a bill because a Governor wants it out or because a Governor wants it in. We are a coordinate branch of the government, but Mr. Speaker, when it comes to the people of this Commonwealth, that is a different matter. They are our superiors, they are the guardians of our promises, and it is in keeping, I say, with our political honor, in keeping with party responsibilities that we redeem our pledges and bring this bill before this House, in the consideration of its membership.

I request a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRUNNER. I second the request, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Brunner.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Bane, Wheeler and Williams.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Mr. ANDREWS. To account for the absence of Representative Brown of Allegheny County.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regrets to hear that news.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. Speaker, I am presenting for your consideration on this date a resolution which brings to light a hazardous situation in my legislative district and particularly dangerous to the health and welfare of all the people living in the Carbondale area.

Now, I appeal to the Membership of this House to bring to the attention of the Department the necessity of immediately approaching this problem, and ask further for the favorable consideration for the Resolution. I am presenting the following resolution.

Mr. PENGLASE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call up at this time House Resolution Serial No. 33 on page 23 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

YARDVILLE, U. S. A.

In the House of Representatives, February 23, 1949.

Whereas Some years ago various groups of people in the City of Philadelphia decided something should be done to make their city more livable and as a result, definite long range plans were drawn to that end which plans were so interesting and inspiring that enthusiasm became widespread and a demand arose for immediate action and

Whereas these enthusiasts inquired as to what could be done now To which inquiry Mary Davis Gillies McCall's Interior and Architecture editor replied "Why not begin in your own back yards" And everyone said "Yes why not" and

Whereas The City Planning Commission of Philadelphia and editor Gillies thereupon sat out to find a place to begin in converting ugly back yards into beautiful usable and livable gardens It was not long before they found a group of people living in the lower end of the 4000 block of North 7th Street and the lower end of the 4000 block of North Marshall Street the yards of whose houses back up to each other who were most eager to help in bringing about the desired transformation and

Whereas The result has now become history as "Yardville USA" with its story as to how twenty ugly unimportant back yards were converted through the application of ideas plans a little money and cooperation into twenty beautiful usable livable gardens which have not only revolutionized the home life of the people living in the homes to which these gardens are connected but also have become a joy and inspiration to all who see them therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives hereby congratulates and expresses its appreciation to the Citizens' Council on City Planning the City Planning Commission the architect Oscar Stonorov and the planner Edmund Bacon Mary David Gillies of McCall's Magazine and all the people living in these houses and all others who contributed in any way to the beautification of this project "Yardville USA" and be it further

STUDENTS ON AMERICAN GOVERNMENT FROM MILLERSVILLE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HOMSHER. If I may interrupt the proceedings for a moment, I wish to advise the Senate that we are honored today by a group of students studying American Government from the Millersville State Teachers College; they are accompanied by two of their instructors, Mr. Champa, and Miss Powell.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very pleased to welcome the students interested in American government from the Millersville State Teachers College, and we are glad to have you with us.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have been informed that this Session is about to adjourn sine die the latter part of this month. Of course, I have no control over that, but I would like very much to make an appeal to the Republican Floor Leader, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, to his colleagues and to my colleagues on this side of the House, about the Session next week.

Mr. President, next week is known to all of us as Holy Week. The Christian Faith recognizes Holy Week, and many of us like to observe that week. The Jewish Faith have their Passover starting Wednesday evening of next week.

I realize that we must expedite the work of this Senate, but up until this time we have been at leisure, we haven't worked too long or too hard, and I trust, out of respect to our religions and to our faith in Christianity, that we can adjourn next week by Wednesday. Thursday is Holy Thursday, and the following day is Good Friday, and I trust that those of us who wish to go to Church, and the most of us do, will have the opportunity of being back home Wednesday evening.

Now, Mr. President, it may be said, you can go home if you wish to, but in my sixteen years on this Hill, I have never missed one day of Session and it is my desire to keep up my record and be on this floor during every day of the Session. It is also my desire to be home on Holy Thursday, and I trust we can so arrange, even if you must work at night to give us the opportunity to complete the work for next week by Wednesday evening.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Cambria could have saved us a lot of time. If he recalls, last week and the week before, this matter was discussed and I still have the recollection that they were advised, and for his information, I will now advise him officially over the loud speaker system that the Senate intends to meet three days next week and adjourn on Wednesday, so that the Senate may observe Holy Thursday and the balance of the Easter religious week. We never had any intention to meet on Thursday, and I was under the assumption that everybody on the other side had been so advised. If the gentleman from Cambria would have asked me, I would have been happy to advise him and I am happy to do so now. There will be no Session on Thursday of next week, there will be no Session on Friday of next week, there will be no Session on Saturday or Sunday.

We will meet Easter Monday, and at that time we will endeavor to drive for five days to see whether or not we can not complete the business of the 1949 Session by April 28th at six o'clock p. m., which is the sine die adjournment resolution which will be introduced today as soon as we get to that point in the Senate business.

Mr. President, I appreciate the gentleman's constant attendance, and I agree with him that he has been a very faithful attendant at the Senate Sessions.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, for had I had the information before hand, I would not have been on the floor now. No one in my Caucus, none of my colleagues had any knowledge of it.

At any rate, Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his kind remarks.

Mr. LANE. Senate Bill No. 1 providing for the repeal of the antiquated and unjust Margarine restrictions was referred to the same Committee that, two years ago, killed Senate Bill No. 190 that was designed to place the State of Pennsylvania on the same intellectual basis relative to legislation on this product that most of the States of the Union now hold. There isn't any question that this same Committee which deprived the people two years ago of seeing on the counters of the small grocery stores, one of the most healthful and valuable products of the American diet, is the same Committee that is holding up Senate Bill No. 1.

As two years ago, it could have been said of this Committee, and the same can be said today in the words of Professor Hugh H. Darby, Editor of American Cookery, he described precisely the Legislators who prohibit this healthful diet in the average outlet in our State. He said it cannot be too strongly stated that the welfare of the individual, the mass population who must use margarine, has not been uppermost in the minds of our legislators when unreasonable taxes have been placed upon the healthful product of Margarine. He further stated that most of the arguments against margarine have not centered around the suitability of the American diet, but have been based upon the economic aspect of the product. The economic aspect is the butter trusts who control the Committee.

The arguments of the opponents to margarine that it is being manufactured from substances imported into our country is not entirely correct and I quote from the aforesaid Dr. Hugh H. Darby, whereas he stated before the American Cookery Institution that at one time a good percentage of vegetable oils were obtained in various parts of the world and, therefore, some competitive manufacturers were able to raise the point that this constituted the favoring of foreign agriculture in contrast to our own national agriculture.

However, he goes on to say that it is for this reason that Texas put a special tax on margarine made from foreign vegetable oils. However, that is not the case today, as soybean and cottonseed oil produced in the United States are the major ingredients of all Margarine. In buying Margarine today we are supporting our own farmers on our own soil. Therefore, if there remains any old ideas about the origin of Margarine, they should be completely revised. To do otherwise would be an injustice to our soybean and cottonseed farmer.

I am also in a position to state and can verify my statements that fourteen million pounds of whole milk went into the production of Margarine in the year 1941 and this constituted some 14% of the ingredients used in Margarine. It is agreed that whole milk is most certainly a product of the Pennsylvania farmer. The nutritive values of butter and Margarine have been argued at great length. Several points are conceded by both sides. Butter and Margarine are both 80% fat. Both contain Vitamin A, butter naturally, Margarine by fortification.

Butter' Vitamin A content varies with the season. Dairymen claim it runs from 9,000 units per pound in winter to 20,000 units in the summer. The present law requires no guarantees or minimum standards.

On the other hand, 99% of all Margarine made in the United States for human consumption is fortified with at least 9,000 units per pound and most with 15,000 or more. Margarine is subjected to test for its Vitamin A content.

I take this position that Senate Bill No. 1 sponsored by Senator Farrell and referred to the Committee on Agriculture on January 17, merits the favorable consideration of that Committee.

Mr. President, the Federal Government is endeavoring to remove the controls from the sale and distribution of Margarine. Unless Senate Bill No. 1 is enacted into law, any action by our National Government will not be applicable to this great Commonwealth.

A recent editorial in a Pittsburgh newspaper set forth the fact that our own State Department of Agriculture, under the guidance of Miles Horst, was lobbying against Senate Bill No. 1 and it behooves me to state on the floor of this Senate that is just about time that we, the elected repesentatives of the people, regulate the vast network of bureaus that obviously have taken control of this State.

I, for one, am going to vote for another Kephart Bill in the form of Senate Bill 69, and unless this legislation is enacted into law, the election of the Members of the House and Senate will have no bearing whatsoever upon their ship of state.

I have been informed that, on this date, our Senate Committee on Agriculture has killed the Farrell Bill, and I say to the membership of that Committee that you had better reconsider your action, for otherwise the wrath of the people will be upon you.

I will have more to say on this subject at a later date.

I understand that Senator Scarlett has a survey made by the American Butter Institute whereby it is alleged that in States where controls have been removed on the sale of Margarine that prices have been increased.

I would appreciate the distinguished Senator inserting the survey into the Legislative Record for the information of the Membership of the House and Senate and the good citizens of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, in conclusion I would like to put a question to the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Miles Horst, a Member of the Governor's Cabinet, and I say to Mr. Horst, a Member of the Governor's Cabinet, do your duties include lobbying for the butter interests? I believe this Senate should pass the Holland-Lane bill, which requires the registration of lobbyists, and have you, Mr. Horst, properly registered.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I desire to make a few remarks in regard to Senate Bill No. 1. First of all, I have heard it said before that Miles Horst, Secretary of Agriculture, was lobbying for the butter people. Miles Horst has not urged me at any time to do anything at all in regard to Margarine. I have asket some questions, I have asked them to gather data for me, but they have not made any suggestions to me whatsoever in regard to the so-called butter trust. There may be a butter trust, but if there is, I don't know about it, I have never come in contact with it, either directly or indirectly. My whole purpose in opposing Senate Bill No. 1, Senator Farrell's bill, has been for the purpose of permitting families of low income to have a good wholesome food at a low price.

Mr. President, I have made several investigations, I have been benefitted by investigations made by a Committee in Congress on this same subject, which has been passed along to me. Sometime ago I was very much interested in the fact that the Margarine people and the small stores, the chain stores and so on, were sending out all over the state a number of people who met with women's clubs and other organizations and urged them to write every member of the Legislature to support the bill to put ioloring in Margarine. There was a vast amount of money spent and I wondered why. I have had investigations made in the states where coloring has been put into Margarine—Senator Farrell's Bill No. 1—and I find that there has been quite a change in the prices. For instance, in Georgia, the uncolored margarine sold at 27 cents per pound, and when the new law went into effect it almost immediately rose to fifty cents a pound. In Virginia, the selling price of Margarine was twenty-seven cents a pound, and it rose to forty-nine cents. In Arizona, thirty-seven cents a pound and it advanced to forty-nine cents a pound. In Kentucky, twenty-five cents a pound, advanced to fifty-two, and so on down the line. I do not at this time have a complete record of all the states in which this law has been put into effect; I expect to have it, however in the near future.

Mr. President, the production of Margarine in 1948, was 906,000,000 pounds. Now, the increase in price from twenty-six or twenty-seven cents a pound to fifty cents a pound or more, of course, means quite a number of million dollars extra profit to the stores who are handling Margarine, because a ten percent, fifteen percent, twenty percent mark up, whatever it might be, on twenty-six cents is only one half of what it would be on fifty-two cents.

I have no desire to meddle with the profits of the stores or retailers of Margarine, again which I say is a good food, a pure and healthful food.

We all know, Mr. President, that Margarine in the white color, with a gelatin capsule containing the coloring and put up in a cellophane bag, costs more to manufacture than the plain colored margarine which is colored in advance, therefore I can see no reason to increase the price of Margarine, which is made under a cheaper cost after the color has been put in.

As I said before, Mr. President, there have been quite a few people traveling in this state, visiting women's clubs and other organizations, and working for Margarine. I can give you the names, I have the names and addresses, I have the salaries of some of them, and I have the names of their employers and quite a lot more information. Now, that is so much for Margarine, as they have asked for in the yellow color.

Now, Mr. President, the Margarine people have not been restricted to the extent that the butter people or the manufacturers of other products have. They make Margarine out of fish oil, lard tallow, cotton-seed oil, soy bean oil, cocoa oil and what ever happens to be the cheapest oil or fat at the time they are manufacturing the Margarine. There are not, in this country, permitted to use horse or mule fat but a great deal of it is accumulated in this country and sent to foreign countries, particularly England, for the manufacture of oleo. However, the Margarine manufacturer has not yet been required to show in the package of his Margarine just what the content of that Margarine is, what the preservative is, what is used as the oil in the Margarine. Another thing that I think the Margarine people have in mind. In the states where Margarine coloring has been included and permitted in open sale, they put oil, perhaps cotton seed oil or some other oil into milk; in bottled milk the butter fat is extracted and the oils are substituted and that same thing is being dones in ice cream mix in states where colored oleo is permitted to be sold. There are other uses that the oleo people have for their materials, which they would like to put into food products, which perhaps is pure, most of the oils are pure.

Mr. President, there is another feature in regard to the Margarine that it is very very hard to believe. I have just this morning received information that in the state of Arkansas there is a company employed to investigate the use of colored Margarine and out of one hundred restaurants visited, sixty-six of them were serving Margarine marked on their menus as butter. We have had a lot of trouble in this State, we have a great many cases that are now pending. Just a few weeks ago, there was an investigation made on one of our principal routes, that was the Lincoln Highway, and the Margarine used or the butter used in the restaurant, they found that in most instances there were two pounds of Margarine mixed with one pound of butter and sold as butter.

Mr. President, I have said before that my whole purpose in working against Margarine was to protect people in the state of Pennsylvania, and there is no other reason for it. We have the farm interest to protect; the farm interests is the biggest interest in the state of Pennsylvania; fory-four counties in Pennsylvania depend on farm products alone for their existence. If colored Margarine was used in this state and sold at the prices it sells for in other states, it would tend to increase the cost of living, I don't know to just what extent, depending on the amount of Margarine that was used. It would also decrease the population of our milk cows and a decrease in the population of our milk cows would actually advance the price of milk; the price of veal would necessarily have to be higher, because as we all know the bull calves of the milking dairies are sold for veal, and, of course, the fewer cows we have, the less veal we have. Eggs, another product, figure into this cost of living also.

Now, Mr. President, the tax has been removed at last Friday night's Session, this Federal tax of ten cents a pound has been removed from Margarine and Margarine is permitted to be sold in colored form, but it is optional with the states; I believe they got a new shape now but this whole coloring scheme I am sure is important to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we have a very good Agriculture Department. It has been found recently that some of the bakers were selling pound cakes, lady fingers, and other cakes supposed to be made of eggs, but there is absolutely no egg content at all. It was colored, practically the same coloring as used in the Margarine. The bakers have been baking cherry pies and selling them with hardly any cherries in the pies, maybe three or four, but mostly coloring to imitate the cherries. Ice cream of different kinds has been sold with coloring and not flavored with the fruit. Some of those colors that have been used in those products are so strong that I have seen cloth that has been dyed with the coloring. That is what the people are putting in their stomachs, until the Department catches up with them.

Also, Mr. President, we find that horse meat is being sold, tons and tons of it, in the state of Pennsylvania, and manufactured into hamburg, a little tallow mixed with it and made into hamburg, and they have even tried to color horse meat and make it look like beef.

Mr. President, I again want to say that my interests have been for the people of Pennsylvania, I have no particular personnel interest and it will continue to be just the same way.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not desire to debate this question very long. I would just like to ask the gentleman from Chester one question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Chester permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCARLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Chester, Senator Scarlett, stated here in his address that the cost of oleo has increased terrifically in various States in the Nation where restrictions have been removed. I would like to ask the gentleman if he has any figures on how the cost of butter increased in those states. Secondly, he talked about the figures which he had when he cited statistics here in regard to the states where the control has been removed. I would like to know from the distinguished gentleman from Chester, Senator Scarlett, just where he received those figures from, and if he will confirm or deny that they were furnished him by the American Butter Institute.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, some of my figures were secured from the Committee on Agriculture in Washington who have made investigations. Some of them have been furnished by a company who has made an investigation, and the sales slips have been obtained with the purchase of the Margarine. Some of them have been furnished by a milk company at my request. Other information is being gathered by a Company which makes a business of obtaining such information, making investigations. When I have that complete report, I will be very glad to lay it on the table for the inspection of everybody. At the present time I do not want to pass out the information into such states as may be on the look-out for it. That is my only reason for it. I will be very glad to turn the information over when I have it.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman if I understood him correctly when he referred to a Pennsylvania tax on oleo Margarine?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, no, I believe the gentleman is mistaken. I can check my speech. I do not think so.

Mr. WADE. That is all right. If the gentleman from Washington did not refer to a Pennsylvania tax, I shall withdraw my interrogation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to inject myself into this oleo feud, but I would like to say that because of the fact that the meeting held this morning was announced from the rostrum yesterday afternoon and not upon the printed lists, and having made other arrangements to be in another Department at the time the meeting was held, I was not present when the bill was up for consideration. I understand from the newspapers that the bill was kept in Committee by a unanimous vote. In order that I may be clearly understood and not misunderstood, I want it known that if I had been present at the meeting, I would have voted against keeping the bill in Committee, and would have voted to bring the bill out for the Senators to consider.

Mr. President, I think the record over the years shows that there are two schools of thought on the question of oleo versus butter or butter versus oleo. I believe the school of thought represented by the good Senator from Chester, Mr. Scarlett, is siniere, and I believe that he has nothing but an earnest desire to do good as he sees it. I do not believe that he intends at any time to thwart the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth by any action on his part or dictated action of his Committee. I do not want it misunderstood to the extent that any one would think that I am saying that Senator Scarlett is not as sincere as he appears to be, because I believe him to be a sincere man, working for that which he believes to be right. I also want to say, Mr. President, that those of us who believe the other side of the question to be right are just as sincere in our desires to do that which we believe to be the best for the common good. There are those of us who believe that this food, although it is of a synthetic nature, has the properties of health and the properties that can be passed on to the greater numbers of people in this Commonwealth of ours, if restrictions are removed from the sale and from the appearance that it takes when it reaches the stores of the grocery men within the confines of this Commonwealth. I want to say that this is a losing battle on the part of those who oppose the unrestricted sale of oleo, for today, as many of you know, there has appeared upon the market a small pill that is now attached to the inside of a pliable plastic film bag, and when the oleo is now purchased at the stores, it is taken home by the housewife and let set in a room of moderate temperature, and in fifteen or twenty minutes the housewife breaks this little pebble of fluid inside the bag, manipulates it for a few minutes, and produces a colored oleo Margarine that compares in color and in flavor and in appearance with the best butter that we can buy.

Now, Mr. President, all we are doing is causing an added inconvenience to the housewife by refusing to remove this restriction, as well as making a certain person who holds a restricted patent upon this particular item immensely wealthy, at the cost of the every day citizen and his family and children throughout this Commonwealth. Colored oleo is here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today just as surely as it came from the creameries or the manufacturing plants that produce it, and I think that eventually, although the time does not appear to be here at the moment, I think that eventually within a few short years we will see a bill passed unanimously almost, because it seems that those of us who are the forerunners of advanced thought, find ourselves often fighting a battle that ends up in a few years not being a battle at all, but by comon consent becomes a law of the land.

Mr. President, I admire George Scarlett for the many years he has fought for what he believes to be right, but I think by the same token that Senator Lane and others of his school of thought ought to be respected for their position also.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, it looks like a field day in the butter business.

I just want to say very briefly that I subscribe very heartily to what the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, has just said. I know of no other person in the Senate who enjoys a higher regard of his colleagues than does the gentleman from Chester, Senator Scarlett.

Mr. President, in Allegheny County most of the folks in my district are very anxious to be able to buy Margarine and have it colored at the point of manufacture, and they and the companies that are involved are not particularly concerned about any restrictions that have been placed around the manufacture of Margarine.

I am in somewhat the same position as the gentleman from Westmoreland. We are like a couple of little girls, invited to play post office—I will if you will. I also was absent that day from the Committee meeting on Agriculture and, Mr. President, yesterday on the floor of this Senate we had quite a to-do about what goes on in a Committee meeting, and this is just a sample of it.

Here on the floor we discovered this was a unanimous vote, and yet three or four of us have to get up on our feet and point out with a great deal of care to the newspapers that we were not there and please do not count us among those who voted against Margarine.

Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland. There will come a day when a Margarine bill will romp through this Senate on one of those high score votings. I hope that the gentleman from Westmoreland and I are both here to see it.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I just want to state that my colleague, Senator Scarlett, has expressed my thought on the oleo bill. I think he has rendered a signal service to all of the people of Pennsylvania except those few who might be engaged in the manufacture of oleo. I say that because the Senator, at his own expense, has spent considerably money to ascertain the information which he gave his colleagues on the floor of the Senate this afternoon. He knew but he wanted to make certain, and he found out that in those states where all regulations and restrictions on the manufacture of oleo were removed, that the price of oleo in almost every instance doubled.

Now, Mr. President, I think that that fact alone certainly justifies everything that Senator Scarlett has done and justifies the action of the Committee on Agriculture of the Senate.

There is another reason why I have always opposed a bill that would have repealed all regulations regarding the manufacture and sale of oleo. Agriculture is the most important industry in Pennsylvania. I am not going to make a long discourse on that, but when we discourage the breeding of cattle we should all realize that that is going to have a great effect on the amount of veal and beef that would be available for consumption, and naturally, the scarcer that product becomes the more it will cost all of the people in the Commonwealth.

So, Mr. President, I want to pay my respects to my colleague, Senator Scarlett, for a good job well done.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I do not intend to prolong this discussion, but coming from the largest consuming section of the state of Pennsylvania, I think I would be remiss in my duty if I did not get up to say that I think all of us are very lovely people, but we are losing sight of one thing. We have a lot of farmers, we have a lot of people in the butter business, we have a lot of people in the Margarine business. The consuming public is the largest group in this Commonwealth, and the consuming public is concerned with only one thing, their right to obtain colored Margarine without having to buy it in a certain type package, take it home, and work on it for a half hour until they have it looking the way they would like have it, and the way they could have it, if the manufacturer were permitted to do it that way in the first place.

Now, Mr. President, we started out in this discussion on first base and ended way out in left field, and I think without attacking anyone's sincerity here, if we would have the interest of the greatest portion of our public at heart, there would be no question about it. We would remove the restrictions once and for all because they are unfair and I think I can safely say notwithstanding that they have been in existence for a long time, they are un-American.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, last Wednesday the Judiciary General Committee met, at which time among other things, among other bills, it considered the FEPC Bill and postponed action, due to the absence of three of the Members. In that connection my attention has been called to a newspaper item that appeared in one of the papers in my district. The headline of the item was "Yosko's absence delays Senate approval of FEPC." The body of the story did not quite tell the truth, and did not explain the reason for my absence, and I just want to keep the record straight. I did attend that meeting last Wednesday, and I informed the Chairman of the Committee, Senator Tallman, that it would be necessary for me to leave at eleven-thirty to take a plane to Bethlehem to attend the funeral of my very good friend, one of our city commissioners, who had died. Before leaving the Committee meeting, I told Senator Tallman that if a vote was taken on the bill, I desired my vote to be aye, but if a proxy was necessary that the distinguished Senator from Allegheny, Senator Barr would act as my proxy. I left the meeting at eleven-thirty, before the FEPC Bill came up for consideration.

Now, Mr. President, it is not my purpose to divulge the deliberations of the Committee meeting yesterday, but because of the wrong impression some people are under, at least my mail so indicates, I want to say that I attended yesterday's meeting, at which time the FEPC Bill was considered, that I voted against the secret ballot, and that I cast my ballot in favor of favorable action to report out of Committee the FEPC Bill.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I wish to speak today concerning a measure that is to me of the gravest importance and very dear to my heart, and that is F.E.P.C.

Mr. President, I am wodering why the F.E.P.C. Bill, sponsored by Members of the Majority Party in the Senate yesterday died in Committee, died in Committee by a secret vote of that Committee. I am not going to apologize or suggest that the sincerity of those voting for this secret ballot is beyond question, for I believe that this type of legislation is not in keeping with all that we hold dear in America. I think a Legislator elected to represent the people of a district or a nation certainly should be willing to stand up and be counted; he certainly should be willing to have the record show where he stood on social and humane legislation. I think that in the Senate of Pennsylvania bigotry and intolerance was present yesterday to a degree that I did not believe was possible; bigotry and intolerance decreeing that we should deprive a group of American citizens, minority peoples of full citizenship in America; that we here in Pennsylvania should give notice to second class citizenship.

Mr. President, why was F.E.P.C. killed in Committee yesterday by a secret ballot? The Governor told us two years ago he was for F.E.P.C., and nothing came out of that Session of 1947 for these oppressed peoples. He told us at the beginning of this Session that he was for an F.E.P.C. Bill, and yesterday we saw it killed by a Committee in which the Majority Membership rested with his party. Has he had a change of heart, has he for the first time in the 1949 Session of the Legislature lost control? I think not. Could it be that the adversaries in the "Battle of Dewey" in the city of Philadelphia, in June of 1948, have suddenly concluded that they can both work together better than they can apart? Or could it mean that Mason Owlett, in his visit several weeks ago to the gentleman in the south wing, might have made a deal, another deal that we have had too many of in Harrisburg in the last three months? We know where Owlett stands. He, not in the fashion that was used yesterday, that of subterfuge, has stated his position; he has made it clear through his organization, The Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, that he is against F.E.P.C. Why is he against F.E.P.C.? Why is he able and willing to influence people who are willing to be his dupes to back an intolerant bigotry such as this? He is against F.E.P.C. because he represents the manufacturers of Pennsylvania, and as long as we can have a second class citizenship in America, in Pennsylvania, we are going to have cheap labor; as long as we say to our colored citizens in Pennsylvania that they cannot be employed on an equality with their white brethern, we will have cheap labor in the mills and factories of Pennsylvania; as long as we can say to those oppressed people that the only place that they can work in the steel mills is in the coke ovens, or in the blast furnaces, or in the scale pits, or in the dirty rotten jobs that the others do not want, we are going to have cheap labor. That is why Mason Owlett is against it, but he doesn't tell us that, he doesn't tell the Members of the Senate Judiciary Committee that. He uses the same tactics that have been used for generations, for centuries throughout the world, that of the superior race upholding a caste system here in America, the same as we have known a caste system in India and in Germany for years, and I tell you this, Mr. President, that we do have a caste system in America, and we here, north of the Mason-Dixon line, look with scorn at the South and wonder how they can be so callous, wonder how such conditions can exist in America where people do not have the right to vote or to live as others live. Yes, Mr. President, we here in Pennsylvania condone it, condone it by the action of the Senate Committee yesterday. I say that this action of yesterday, to quote my distinguished colleague from Allegheny, and seconding a statement by him, was an infamous act, an act that we should be ashamed to admit.

I wonder what the gentleman depicted by that oil painting on the wall, a man free of arrogance, intolerance and bigotry, fashioned in conscience, who came to Gettysburg eighty-five years ago to dedicate a great memorial battlefield to a cause, would say if he were to step into the Senate of Pennsylvania today or yesterday. Across the top of that oil painting we see, "It is for us the living rather to be here dedicated to the unfinished work," and we the living, eighty-five years later, have not finished the task, a task that could have been well started on the road to completion yesterday in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I think the action of the Judiciary General Committee as of yesterday was a damnable un-American act, and I am not apologizing for that statement.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to say a few things to the gentleman from Lawrence County. The first thing Abraham Lincoln would say was that we have just heard the most bigoted speech that was ever delivered in the halls of this Senate. For the past ten years I have been a member of, and Chairman, of the Judiciary General Committee. In January of this year the Chairmanship was entrusted to my good friend, the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman. I am very proud of that Committee and proud of the men who serve on it.

For the past six years I have been the supporter of, and an advocate of, fair employment practice legislation. In 1947 I sponsored the fair employment practice bill, and I certainly have tried to my utmost to have these bills enacted into law. The gentleman from Lawrence speaks of bigotry. In my opinion, Mr. President, one of the most outstanding examples of bigotry is an individual who refuses to respect the sincerity of the opinion of his adversary, while at the same time demanding that respect in return.

I know that there are people in this Senate who sincerely believe in fair employment practices and think that these practices should be incorporated in our Pennsylvania law. These people are sincere in their beliefs and honest in their opinions. Then there are also members of this Senate who are just as positive and just as honest and sincere who believe the opposite side of this controversial problem. It is controversial subject and I respect the opinion of the people who are opposed to me in their thinking on fair employment practice. Because their opinion is different from mine, I do not propose to call them bigots, and I think that the gentleman from Lawrence is rather careless in his language when he gets up on the floor of this Senate and says that because these colleagues differ with him that they are bigots.

I agree with his conclusions on fair employment practice but I certainly do not condone the attack he makes upon the members of the Judiciary General Committee or our colleagues here on the Senate floor. They are entitled to their opinion and so is the gentleman from Lawrence. The differences in beliefs and opinions certainly is no reason for the accusation of bigotry to be tossed around carelessly in the Senate. One of the first lessons of tolerance is to respect differences in race, color, creed and philosophy.

The gentleman from Lawrence pursues the course so many of the New Dealers adopt when they fail to find explanations for the mistakes made by their own political party. They are not able to explain why the Congress of the United States has not passed a fair employment practice bill. In order to create what he thinks will be favorable political publicity, the gentleman from Lawrence resorts to the cheap moth-eaten practice of blaming the present status of fair employment practice legislation on the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association and its president, the honorable G. Mason Owlett.

Now, Mr. President, never at any time has anyone ever suggested that I am a desciple of Mason Owlett or the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association. I had the privilege of serving with Mason Owlett in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I respect his opinions, his beliefs and his philosophies because in them he is sincere. The gentleman from Lawrence may not agree with Senator Owlett's philosophies, opinions or beliefs, but that disagreement on the part of the gentleman from Lawrence certainly will not condone the hurling of the gauntlet of bigotry here on the floor of the Senate.

Senator Owlett has contributed much of his time, effort and talent to the betterment of Pennsylvania. He served honorably in this Senate for eight years. No longer being a member of this body, he loses the opportunity to personally defend himself on the floor of this Senate. If he were here, he would ably—far better than I—answer the gentleman from Lawrence. Senator Owlett has made more contributions to the advancement of fair employment practice than the gentleman from Lawrence. Senator Owlett assisted in writing into the Republican platform in 1946 in Pittsburgh a fair employment practice plank. In 1948 in Philadelphia, Senator Owlett assisted in writing a fair employment practice plank into the National Republican platform. The gentleman from Lawrence suggests that Senator Owlett killed Senate Bill Number 6. Mr. President, such an accusation is ill-advised and is not founded on one scintilla of truth. During this entire Session, Senator Owlett never once has said a word directly or indirectly to any member of this Senate regarding Senate Bill Number 6 or any other legislation. If the gentleman from Lawrence has any evidence to the contrary, I would suggest that he produce that evidence and submit it to the committee on Judiciary General.

Then, Mr. President, the gentleman from Lawrence also makes the stupid and untruthful allegation in the form of a query suggesting that the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable James H. Duff, has made a deal with Senator Owlett and has agreed to kill fair employment practice in order to get some of the administration legislation passed. Now, Mr. President, when the gentleman from Lawrence makes a statement like that on the floor of the Senate, that just proves that he does not know Governor Duff nor Mason Owlett. In all fairness to them both, they would not stoop to making deals like this.

Governor Duff has always been in favor of fair employment practice. He favored it in the past, he favors it now and will favor and support it in the future. His attitude toward fair employment practice has not lessened in the least.

I will admit, Mr. President, we have lost Senate Bill Number 6, but as I stated yesterday here on the floor of this Senate, we have lost the battle, but we have not lost the war. If the gentleman from Lawrence would just direct his activity toward attempting to get votes for fair employment practice instead of alienating everybody on the floor of this Senate who has the slightest difference of opinion with him, we might get further with legislation on that subject.

The gentleman from Lawrence accuses us of being bigots, moral cowards and classifies our action as "damnably un-American". Mr. President, the gentleman from Lawrence is enjoying his first Session in the Senate. When he has been here a little while longer, he will learn not to permit his enthusiasm to overcome his better judgment. Such unwarranted and ungentlemanly expressions have never made their appearance here on the floor of the Senate. I resent the gentleman's charge. I resent his accusations and his insinuations. I do so on behalf of my colleagues on this side of the aisle as well as my colleagues in the Minority. It may be that some of the Minority members of this Senate voted against Senate Bill Number 6. Certainly they are not to be included either in these despicable accusations.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. The gentleman will, Mr. President.

Mr. NEFF. Do I understand, Senator Walker, that you voted in the affirmative on that issue?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am a Member of that Committee. It was by secret ballot. My ballot is known to several Members of the Committee. I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, personally delivered my vote to the Chairman of that Committee so it could be tabulated. I know he will keep it a secret. My vote was in the affirmative.

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President, if the shoe had fit, I could have understood the squeal of anguish, but if it does not fit, let he who should put the shoe on wear it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Presdent, may I say to the gentleman that any time he accuses any of my colleagues of being bigoted, the shoe fits as far as I am concerned, because I am here to see that peace and harmony prevail.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think that peace is a long way from home, and harmony certainly is further away However, this question is one that agitates tempers, and there is no question about that. Some of us feel deeply about a subject when it comes on the floor of the Senate, some of us feel deeply about subjects in Senate Committees. The gentleman, I think, practiced his perfect right, if he thought that he was aggrieved as a Member of the Senate in the action that was taken, and took the position here on the floor to show exactly the manner in which he felt aggrieved.

Mr. President, I am not too excited about the loss of equilibrium by anybody in debate, but I have been a little disturbed about taking in my favorite friends, the New Dealers. It seems, Mr. President, that we are still being accused of mistakes. I cannot see how we have made a mistake in the matter of FEPC. We just cannot help it if the Southern Democrats who were ruled out of the Democratic Party by their own vote, by their own suggestion, after the last Democratic National Convention, we cannot help it if that group has found a companion group north of the Mason-Dixon line, and west of the Mississippi River, known as the Republican Minority in the United States Senate, and if they have teamed up into a group to oppose the President's wishes and the President's will, in the matter of Civil Rights, it certainly is not a condemnation of the Democratic Party, or of the believers in the Democratic Party. So, at this moment, let us clear the desk of that particular issue. The Democratic Party in Washington will stand or fall upon its record, by the grace of God and the vote of the majority of the people of this nation. That record has been sufficient to return it to political power nationally for four consecutive terms of four years each.

Mr. President, we have found now that we have a new man in the White House, a man who does not have a magic name, a man who is not bandied around over the highways and by-ways of this country as a great spender, and is therefore getting into office on the basis of the fact that he is spending untold millions of public funds that his precedessor was accused of, but a man who went out into the highways and by-ways of this nation and pleaded his cause to the people strictly upon the record of the Democratic Party.

Those of us who are here in Pennsylvania in a minority position are not fooled by any oratory. We know why we are in the minority, we know exactly why. We know the places, the spots, and the conditions that cause the Democratic Party to be a minority in the Commonwealth, and we know at this time the peoples of this Commonwealth are awakening to the realization, just as Senator Walker has stipulated upon the floor, that FEPC was part of the Republican Platform in 1942. It was part of the Republican Platform in 1944, and 1946, and in 1948, and in 1949-1951 it will again be part of the platform, and that is the point of argument, that is the point of anguish on the part of those who support FEPC legislation, that year after year and platform after platform they are still given a platform plank, and it is getting to the point where the plank is causing indigestion, and so, Mr. President, we will stand upon our record, and say to you, and to the Members of this Senate, and to the people of Pennsylvania, that the only way this state will see that type of legislation put upon the statute books will be the election of a liberal Democratic Party.

ERECTION OF A STATE HOUSE IN THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

In the Senate, January 25, 1949.

Whereas, The dispersal and inconvenient location of the offices of the various departments, commissions, bureaus, and boards of our State Government in the City of Philadelphia is not conducive to efficiency and economy and above all not commensurate with the dignity and greatness of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and,

Whereas, The rentals paid by the Commonwealth for its Philadelphia offices for the last two decades would have amply covered the costs of an imposing state-owned building erected structurally and artistically according to the highest and most modern standards of office-building architecture, and

Whereas, The acoustics and accommodations of the rooms ocupied by the State Courts in the City Hall of Philadelphia are deficient and functionally inadequate, thus requiring changes that cannot be longer delayed, and

Whereas, There is thus a definite need now extant in Philadelphia for the erection therein of a State Court House and Office Building, and

Whereas, recently the City of Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have agreed that the so called "Chinese Wall," running from Broad Street Station to 30th Street Station parallel to Market Street be removed and a ninety-feet wide boulevard laid out upon the tract of land now covered by said "Chinese Wall" and that as a part of this development the future width of Fifteenth Street between the proposed boulevard and Market Street is to be fixed at sixty-seven feet and that of Sixteenth Street at seventy-feet, and

Whereas, The execution of the aforesaid agreement between the City of Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will place at the disposal of the City of Philadelphia an available site within less than one hundred yards from City Hall having a length of three-hundred sixty-feet and a depth of two-hundred eight feet and thus admirably suited for the erection thereon of a State Court House and Office Building.

Now be it therefore resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that:

(a) The Joint State Government Commission appoint a committee to make a study of the locational and dispersional inconveniences of the several State Offices in Philadelphia and the effect thereof upon the efficiency of the services rendered.

(b) That the City of Philadelphia be urged by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to place at the disposal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the aforesaid site for the erection thereon of a State Court House and Office Building.

(c) That His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania be urged to order a study by his subordinates of the suitability of the aforesaid site for the erection thereof of a State Court House and Office Building, as well as the advisability of such a project.

(d) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania enact such legislation that may be necessary for the initiation of the project.

(e) That the Secretary of the Senate forwards copies of this resolution to His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania, to the Mayor of Philadelphia, and to the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

MEMORIALIZING THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR TO WITHHOLD FEDERAL FUNDS ALLOCATED FOR THE PROTECTION OF MIGRATORY AND OTHER GAME WITHIN STATES

Messrs. KEPHART, SNOWDEN and TARR, offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, April 6, 1949.

Whereas, The imposition of license fees upon non-residents for the privilege of hunting are becoming grossly disproportionate to the hunting license fees imposed upon residents of a State, and

Whereas, Such non-resident license fees are required not only for the hunting of game which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the States, but also for the hunting of migratory waterfowl which is within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, and

Whereas, The Federal Government imposes taxes on the people of all the United States and makes grants back to the several States to be used in connection with the protection or propagation of both migratory and other game, and

Whereas, When a State accepts funds of the Federal Government, provided by the people of all the States, to be spent upon the wildlife in that State, then that State, to some measure, becomes the trustee of such wildlife for the benefit of the people of all the States, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States and the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior, to withhold all Federal Funds allocated for the protection or propagation of migratory and other game within States, from any State which imposes a hunting license fee upon non-residents in excess of five times the amount of such fees imposed upon residents of that State, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of both houses of the Congress of the United States, to the Secretary of the Interior, and to the Chief of the Bureau of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 415, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to Washington and Jefferson College for conservation education and requiring certain reports in connection therewith

Whereas No state in our Nation is so dependent for its industrial progress and the maintenance of its prosperity on the informed use and full development of the natural sources of its mines its soil its waters and its forests as is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and

Whereas No program for the development and conservation of our resources can succeed without full public awareness of their economic and social importance to ourselves and to the future citizens of the State and

Whereas Conservation touches many closely related considerations of soil forests waters wild life minerals industrial practices urban institutions and human resources and adequate and effective education therein draws upon the biological and physicial sciences the social studies and humanities and

Whereas There is at present a lack in our institutions of liberal education of adequate programs to develop the full awareness of these problems and to prepare students for active participation in many lines of endeavor whether in industry in government services or in the teaching profession where conservation is becoming of paramount importance therefore

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 It is hereby declared to be the policy of the State government to promote the conservation wise use and full development of its natural resources in the interest of our prosperity and future welfare and to encourage and support sound undertakings in general education for the promotion of the conservation of our natural and human resources

Section 2 The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to Washington and Jefferson College for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-nine for the establishment and maintenance of a four-year undergraduate program in conservation education as a part of its comprehensive program in the liberal arts and sciences

Section 3 In as much as an important element in this pioneer program of conservation education is the development of new techniques and course materials Washington and Jefferson College each year shall make available to the Pennsylvania State Planning Board a report on its program and the techniques developed therefor Reports on any basic conservation research which may be undertaken as a part of this education program shall also be submitted to the State Planning Board

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the bill we are about to consider I believe entails a few remarks by myself, and I am speaking on behalf of the co-sponsor, the gentleman from Indiana, Senator Peelor, and myself. This is in regard to conservation education for Washington and Jefferson College, and we will have been partly successful if we have passed in the Senate this bill appropriating $50,000 for that purpose.

Mr. President, I want to briefly outline the objectives and put it in the record, because I hope the Members of the House, if it passes the Senate, will go along with this measure, because first of all Washington and Jefferson is in my county, and I am vitally interested in that college, and I hope that we have the opportunity to increase our curriculum.

Mr. President, rather than take up the time of the Senate in reading the outline that I have in hand, I would ask that it be spread on the Legislative Journal for the information of the Members of the House.

"By vote of its faculty on 17 January 1949 and of the Executive Committee of its Board of Trustees on the following day, Washington and Jefferson College has committed its energies and resources to an attempt to develop a four-year undergraduate program in Conservation Education as a part of its comprehensive program in liberal education.

"The program is conceived as an application of liberal education to a major social problem. It is to be subject to all the requirements of the new curriculum (adopted and introduced in 1947) including those of distribution, concentration and the humanistic courses common to all students in each year. It offers opportunities to prepare for professional work at the graduate level parallel to those which the curriculum now affords students intending to enter teaching, the law, medicine, the ministry or business.

"The educational objective of the Conservation Program is to present a new discipline on which knowledge of other disciplines must be focused and in which such knowledge may be fused into a significant unity. The proposed program, for example, will draw what is appropriate from the several scientific disciplines of geology, zoology, botany, chemistry, physics, physiology and psychology; the social studies of geography, economics, sociology and political science; and such humanistic studies as history, pholosphy and literature. Mathematics, particularly statistics, is almost indispensable to the practice of any of the many professions related to conservation. Modern foreign languages furnish not only linguistic tools but valuable insights into contemporary cultures where conservation problems are at least as pressing as in our own. Thus virtually every discipline appropriate to a college of liberal arts and sciences will make its contribution.

"The social objectives of the program are several First of all we shall try to produce men who are concerned about the many-sided problem of using, rather than abusing, our natural and human resources. Second we shall hope to predispose men toward and prepare them for professional study in such fields as industrial conservation and reclamation of waste, forestry, city and regional planning, soil conservation and social work. Ultimately, if our attempt is successful, conservation-minded men of vision and of general competence (whom we have trained) will be found in significant positions in industry, government, business and teaching so that their concern for achieving the required relationship between man and his whole environment may find the saving means of expression.

"A further social objective of the program must be presented in somewhat tentative form until we have had an opportunity to test its validity. We believe that case studies in the field (analogous to laboratory work) constitute an appropriate method of study for students majoring in Conservation. Our plans call for a Director and a Research Professor to supervise field studies. We plan further to release several members of our own staff for parttime participating in these projects, and to appoint research assistants. It is possible that studies in local and neighboring areas may result in reports of value to the Commonwealth and to the communities and industries immediately concerned. Such reports would include data from observation by undergraduates and recommendations by the supervising research staff.

"Western Pennsylvania has been highly favored in the wealth and variety of its natural resources. In many respects its people have been heedless and reckless in their exploitation—and despoliation—of these resources. At present the area offers extraordinary opportunities for observing, studying and correcting harmful practices in farming, in industry and in urban development. Fortunately, an awareness of the importance of connecting such abuses now begins to be apparent.

"Fortunately too, there is a growing awareness that no single approach to past and present abuses offers a cure. The issue of forestry is related to that of soil conservation, water supply, flood control, urban practices, industrial processes and many other kindred activities. It is our contention that only the liberally educated man, acquainted with basic scientific concepts and laws, familiar with social, economic and political habits, practices and objectives, and possessed of the insights afforded by the humanistic disciplines of letters and philosophy can even conceive of the properly integrated approach.

"Because it is a college of liberal arts and sciences located in the Pittsburgh area, Washington and Jefferosn College is in a favored position to undertake a significant experiment in Conservation Education. Because its faculty is strong and is enthusiastically committed to the program, it is in a favorable position to carry that program to success.

"Under the tentative plan of operation the proposed program will affect students in several ways. The fact that it is to be entirely within the framework of the general curriculum and will draw largely upon the members of our regular teaching staff insures that every student will at least be exposed to Conservation. General courses constituting a formal introduction to conservation problems will be available as electives for all students and may be recommended for students majoring in other disciplines.

"The complete four-year program is designed for a selected group of not more than 50 students from each entering class. Some of these students will proceed to professional study at the graduate level.

"In order to initiate the program in September 1949 with a group of entering freshmen (and even, perhaps, with a small group of students beginning their sophomore year) the College plans the following steps, provided financial assistance can be promptly secured:

"1. Obtain the temporary services of a special consultant whose functions would be to

"a) Consult with the faculty in order to limit and define the program in more specific terms;

"b) acquaint business and industry with the program and obtain their interest and support;

"c) advise with the college administration upon the formation of a national advisory committee; and

"d) assist the College in selecting a program Director.

"(This step should be taken at once.)

"2. Select and activate a national advisory committee if the creation of such a committee is warranted.

"(This step, if warranted, should be taken by May 1949.)

"3. Select a program Director.

"(This step should be taken by 1 June 1949.)

"4. Develop and adopt a curriculum for majors in Conservation.

"(This step should be taken during the summer of 1949.)

"5. Select a Research Professor.

"(This step should be taken by 1 September 1949.)

"6. Select personnel from the regular teaching staff for part-time participation in the program for the development of case studies in the field.

"(This step should be taken during the summer of 1949.)

"7. Appoint research assistants to prepare and conduct case studies in the field.

"(This step is not contemplated until September 1950.)"

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, are we on Senate Bill No. 669?

The PRESIDENT. Yes.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I did not have a chance to voice my objection to it. I believe I should have an opportunity now to say something about it. I did not vote for it.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator want to express his objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to state my objection as to why I am voting "no" for it.

The PRESIDENT. The vote has not been announced. What does the Senator desire?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not desire to be technical with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel. As I understand it, the roll call was not announced.

Mr. President, I would like to respectfully suggest to the gentleman that there is nothing before the Senate now but the announcement of the roll call. If the gentleman desires to explain his vote, I have no objection to that.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not desire to be technical either, but I believe this system of hurried announcement of a vote is rather contrary to the basic principles of democracy.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry, there is nothing before the Senate but the announcement of the roll call.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator desire to be recorded as voting "no"?

Mr. STIEFEL. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator will be so recorded.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, am I to understand that I am deprived of an opportunity to explain why I am casting my vote in the negative?

The PRESIDENT. After the vote has been announced, the Senator from Philadelphia may explain his reasons for voting in the negative.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, as to Senate Bill No. 669, just passed, I agree with the premise of the bill, but I differ with the methodology adopted by it. I believe that one of the safeguards of the American system of Government is the systems of checks and balances, checks and balances between the Executive Department of the Government and the Legislative.

Now, Mr. President, in my opinion the passage of this bill is going to interfere with the functions of our state government. The only method to accomplish the purpose of this bill would be the establishment of an administrative court. This way all our executive departments in Harrisburg will be in constant fear of interference from the Legislature.

Of course, Mr. President, I am not worried about the passage of the bill. I have stated before, and I am stating now, that I have respect for Governor Duff as an outstanding political scientist. Not being a Drew Pearson, I do not venture any predictions, but I am sure Governor Duff is going to veto this bill.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this bill came out of the Committee on Appropriations several days ago, appropriating huge sums of money for deficiencies covering the following departments, Treasury Department, Department of Forests and Waters, Internal Affairs, Labor and Industry, Public Instruction, etc.

Now, Mr. President, I have the deepest respect and admiration for the men who compose this body of fifty Senators. Looking through the Legislative Directory, I find we have lawyers, attorneys, manufacturers, doctors, labor leaders, laymen, bankers, and so on, men who govern businesses that require attention where they must use good judgment.

Mr. President, every year each department submits to this body their budget requirements, and after they are analyzed, we then pass upon an appropriation, but never in all my years as a Member of this body have I found such great deficiencies. One for $3,000, that is small; one for $25,000; another for $65,000; another for $30,000; and another for $14,000; one for $250,000; another for $47,000; another for $359,000; another for $26,000; another for $20,933; another for $517,281: and so on down the line. Mr. President, oh yes, one for $1,178,500.

I wonder how many of us back home conducting a business would blankly endorse an expense account of our employees without checking where that money is being used, and how it is being used. If we keep on passing upon appropriations in this manner, Mr. President, this Commonwealth must be close to the brink of bankruptcy. There is not a man in this body, with all due respect to all of my colleagues, but I say sincerely, Mr. President, there is not a Senator in this house today who can even tell me the total amount of the deficiencies contained in this bill. There is not a man in this house, I am sure, who can say why the deficiencies and for what purpose. Why have these men come to us after getting their budget requirements fulfilled, and presented to us deficiencies, from one department of almost $2,000,000? Oh, you may say, within the last year or two there has been a raise in wages, authorized by the Governor, and rightfully so, but no department can consume such raises.

Mr. President, we have no knowledge whether the payrolls are being padded, and I am not saying they are, but we have no knowledge whether they are being padded. We have no knowledge of expense accounts, we have no knowledge whatsoever where this money is going to and for what reason, and still the Committee on Appropriations will blankly pass upon such huge sums, making up deficiencies.

Mr. President, I am not condemning the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. He has been a very, very fine gentleman, and is doing a good job, but it is our job and the job of the Members in that Committee to check that list, and if any department has a deficiency, they should come to us and by request tell us why they have a deficiency, what it amounts to, where the money is being spent, and for what reason. Then I am sure that all of us will be glad to make up that deficiency.

Mr. President, we must practice here as we practice at home, and I am sure that not one of us would dare conduct their private business in the same manner as we are conducting the business of this state. It is a poor policy, Mr. President, a poor way of doing business, and with all of the talent we have here, outstanding men, I cannot quite conceive that they blindly endorse a blank check of this kind.

Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill on the premise that it is needed, but like every other man in this body, I am closing my eyes, I do not know what I am voting for.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, if he is aware of the processes that must be gone through before a deficiency can be created or applied for?

Mr. HALUSKA. I am not, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Thank you very much, sir.

Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, that I am just as much alarmed at deficiencies as he is. I would like to explain to him how these deficiencies are provided.

Mr. President, if a department finds that through circumstances that are beyond its control, they are going to exceed a certain earmarked appropriation for a certain definite purpose, that department makes a report to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The deficiency is then discussed with the fiscal officers, and if they approve the problem that is presented to them by the department head, then they permit the expenditure to continue because of the value of the work that is being done, and if that creates a deficiency in that particular fund that was earmarked at the time the appropriation was made, then this bill is to provide for such deficiency. No department head is allowed to create a deficiency on his own volition. It must be approved first by the Governor and the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth. Every year that we have been in the Senate I think we have found that deficiency appropriations from various departments, for various reasons, are necessary, but it is not something that can be done with just a blank check. It must be approved by the Governor, the Auditor General, State Treasurer, the Attorney General, and Secretary of Property and Supplies, and I think now, since the new system we have working, the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and the Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and you know that if a deficiency appropriation passes that pair, I think you will find it is needed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I realize we have in the past and will in the future be compelled to make deficiency appropriations. I am fully aware of that fact, but my complaint is that this body should have a statement from that department. Once we make the original appropriation, any deficiency should come to us or at least be explained in Committee as to how that money is being used and for what purpose.

Mr. President, I trust the Governor, but he is only one human the same as myself. That is why we have the Committee on Appropriations. When we have a deficiency we should know why, how it occurred, and how that money was spent.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, in explanation of the increased deficiency appropriations, this was due mainly to the increase of salary ordered by the Salary Board, consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer, and the Auditor General.

Mr. President, the Appropriations Committee held a meeting, at which Senator Haluska was present, and unanimously agreed to report this bill out of Committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 6, 1949.

The House met at 1:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Reverend Homer C. Knox, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Methodist Church, York, Pennsylvania, an uncle of the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price.

Our dear heavenly Father, we pause for a few moments in the hurry-up of the things of life to bow in Thy divine presence. We thank Thee, our God, for that privilege; we pray Thee that Thou hast always been revealing to us; that it is Thy divine will that we come a little bit nearer to Thee and know something of the meaning of abiding in the over-shadow of the Almighty.

For this privilege which has been afforded to us, we are very grateful. We are glad to meet with our fellow men, who are making an honest effort to serve their day and generation.

We pray Thee, dear Father, for each one of us; if there be anyone in any of these homes who are sick, or any Member of the House ill, we would lay our hearts together, and in Jesus Christ's name ask that it be Thy divine will to give them back to their loved ones and make them well. Where any of these men are compelled to be away from their homes or little ones or lads or lassies, Oh God! keep them from harm and danger.

We pray our heavenly Father that these men who have been honored by the people of the community, the sections in which they live, by the investment of confidence. Some days when the going is a little hard and it is a bit difficult to know just what is best, please God help them to remember that Thou art the source of our wisdom, and at times when the cares and interests of life, to which we must give attention, would make a thorofare across our minds and our hearts, God help these men who are in the public eye, to have a little place in their own soul where they and God meet, and where they have communion with their Maker.

Let Thy divine blessing rest upon the Governor and his family. We thank Thee, our dear God, for our great state, for its institutions, for its men and women, with ability and leadership and trueness of heart and as these men carry on the business of the state, oft times misunderstood, not always seeing eye to eye with the public, grant our God, that once in a while they may slip away and have a little talk with Thee, so that when another year will have passed, and their heart will become a little more hoary they will look back upon these days and say I have done my best.

God bless the Speaker. We thank Thee for his life and his ability. Give him a judgment and kindness of heart and insight in all that he has to do, and in Jesus' if we could, we would mention each Member of the House and their loved ones. Amen.

By Mrs. MUNLEY. RESOLUTION No. 54.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1949.

Whereas, Mine fires have been burning at the West Carbondale-Fallbrook Creek Mine for considerable time, although heretofore the said fires were separated from some thirty or more homes by a stream of water; and

Whereas, The said coal mine fires have now crossed beneath the stream and are rapidly approaching the homes above mentioned; and

Whereas, In addition to the fire hazards arising from these burning mines, there are the clouds of carbon monoxide gases which endanger the lives of the people living in the houses in the vicinity of the burning mines; and

Whereas, The people concerned face possible death by fire and asphyxiation and the loss of their homes, and the survivors will find it almost impossible to find other houses into which to move; and

Whereas, If something is done immediately, loss of life and property damage can be avoided, but delay will in time involve a large part of Carbondale in the hazards as stated; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Mines is hereby directed to undertake at once, the extinguishment of the coal mine fires at both the West Carbondale-Fallbrook Creek Mine and the Watt-Scurry tract at Carbondale; and be it further

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1949.

The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association, organized and in continuous and uninterrupted existence since 1895, is the oldest association of its kind in the United States.

It has been the custom of the association to hold a biennial dinner during each regular session of the General Assembly. This event is always looked forward to with great anticipation and some trepidation by the members of this body.

The dinner held last evening in the ballroom of the Penn-Harris Hotel, heralded as "Big Red's Round-Up," was particularly entertaining in its lampooning of State officials, and legislative and political leaders. The program was especially timely and provoked well deserved merriment.

The dinner was excellent and the program was thoroughly enjoyed by all present; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby expresses its appreciation of the good solid fun afforded its members by the program of skits presented; and compliments the members of the committee who planned the performance and wrote the scripts, for their very effective labors.

The first section was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the sponsor of this bill briefly explain the method he is pursuing in formulating the omnibus highway bill, because some of the new Members are unacquainted with the method.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, explain the provisions of the bill?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the request of the gentleman from Cambria, I will be very glad to explain the procedure which we felt we had to follow, not only in this session but in former sessions.

This bill embodies changes that are deemed necessary or important in the various communities, townships, boroughs, cities of the second class, and third class, and also first class cities.

The Members of the House are bound by House Rule 28 and are prevented from introducing individual bills in all cases except in the one respect where a road is a forestry road or a road under the authority of another department.

There is one bill on the calendar that is a part of this program that comprises such a bill, that is where it is proposed to adopt a forestry road under the state system. That requires a separate act. The fact that we are prevented from introducing individual bills means that we have to come to our Reference Bureau and get our requests for adoption of roads. That entails again checking and rechecking of descriptions by the Department of Highways usually because they have the map and information that is necessary. In these bills, we find from experience usually that the Senate requires a minimum of two weeks to get their amendments in. We, being far advanced in this session, felt it advisable to bring these bills out, incomplete as they are. These bills now represent the beginning of the omnibus bills.

Mr. Speaker, let me make this clear, they are incomplete. Amendments involving seventeen counties are in process of completion. They are not as yet in the bill. We anticipate that there will be further amendments offered. There certainly will be further amendments offered in the Senate and to avoid printing costs we would like to advance the bills as far as possible in the House and allow time for the other body to act upon them.

All amendments which are not in the bill, and which are proposed by the Members can and will be acted upon in the Senate. That is the usual procedure. The bills offered now are only the beginning, and again I say that there will probably be further amendments proposed in the Senate. Have I made myself clear?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections and titles were separately read and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

McCracken and their teachers, Mrs. McCracken and Mr. Zawacki. They are the guests of the gentleman from Sullivan, Mr. Baumunk.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 5, entitled:

An Act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government and providing the procedure therefor imposing certain restrictions limitations and regulations imposing duties upon city councils city officers county boards of elections courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities and imposing penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, when the Committee of Fifteen punched a little peephole through the iron curtain behind which Philadelphia's city government operates the public got a momentary glimpse of tax thefts and other disturbing conditions.

As a result of these disclosures there was a wave of popular indignation. Organization spokesmen were in a hastened mood. Republican City Chairman Meade exhorted his followers about the "flagrant and scandalous conditions" that prevailed. He spoke of "rank, unsavory disregard for public trust." He referred to "open and calculated theft of public funds." He warned them that "we, the Republican party in Philadelphia, collectively and individually, face loss of public trust."

That was back in May. The developments of that period gave impetus to widespread demand for thoroughgoing reform of the City's governmental system. The Legislature was to meet in January. Then, Philadelphias thought, we would advance constitutional City—County consolidation and meanwhile get a new charter that would in the meantime erect safeguards against long-practiced abuses.

Something resembling the legislation then expected is now in process of enactment. But the Organization has cast aside its sackcloth and ashes. It has an eye on preserving the power, and especially the patronage, it has long enjoyed. We are told that county government is to be preserved as a separate entity. We are to have a charter commission appointed by the Mayor and Council. Council is to preserve power over any proposed amendments. What Philadelphia is now promised when it asks for bread looks very much like a stone.

Is is so certain that the storm has blown over? Are the people going to be content with half-measures? Does dissension among our civic agencies as to the best means of achieving self-government for the City justify the apparent belief that gestures will serve as well as strong measures of reform?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Bill No. 5 be recommitted to the Committee on City and County—First Class, for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to object to the gentleman's motion.

I believe that these bills do just the very thing that he says.

This bill has been on the calendar in the Senate since January 17th. It has been amended to help civic organizations in their objections. This bill does what the gentleman says; it gives the city of Philadelphia self-government and home rule. The gentleman said that during the summer they held two meetings in the city of Philadelphia, where the civic groups and the minority party raised their objections. There was a joint meeting in the House Caucus Room of the Senate Committee and the House Committee on these bills and from all of these objections we have changed the bills to suit them. We cannot suit everybody; we know that, but we feel that this bill is a good bill and we feel that it is a bill that the citizens of Philadelphia want. We feel that this is also a home rule bill and I ask that the motion be voted down.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman to say that Senate Bill 5 had been approved by the civic organizations and met the objections that the civic organizations of Philadelphia had in respect to this bill. Will the gentleman tell us which civic organizations are in favor of the bill as presently drawn?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I said most of the objections had been arranged for in the bill to suit the civic organizations. I did not say all of them.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, was there an opportunity afforded to these civic organizations where they could enter their objections?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Yes, Mr. Speaker, there was. I believe on February 15th there was a joint meeting in the House Caucus Room, and the only two objections that I known of, and they are only with regard to the factual part of the bill is with respect to the city council having the election or appointment of the commission.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, actually isn't it true that the form of the bill as amended in the Senate was never before the civic organizations at this public hearing?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. That is true, Mr. Speaker, not the amendments. It was amended to suit the civic organizations prior to the amendments. The amendments were the result of the public hearing.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the motion to re-commit this bill.

I would like to point out to the Member of this House preliminarily that the original meeting held in February, supposedly to consider the home rule bill, as well as the city—county consolidation bill, was well attended. At that meeting we had representatives from various civic organizations present; we had representatives of all the groups that were interested in good government present at the meeting, but unfortunately the meeting degenerated into a political meeting, whereby there was name calling and cat calling. Actually there was very little opportunity afforded to the representatives of the various civic organizations to present their views with respect to the home rule bill particularly.

I want to point out that the Senate deliberated on these bills from January 17 to last Monday, and then the bill was brought over to the House, and without the ink of the presiding officer of the Senate having properly dried on the bill there was a meeting held of the Committee here and very little opportunity was given to the members of the committee to deliberate and to study this bill before it was reported out. I feel that the Members of the House have been treated as automatons or puppets. Why should the Members of the Senate who have had an opportunity to deliberate on this bill for a couple of months be given such a privilege whereas we in the House have not even been afforded an opportunity to read the bill before it was reported out.

Now, Mr. Speaker I wish to point out to the Members of the House an editorial which appeared in the Evening Bulletin on March 28, 1949. It is a very short editorial and I ask your indulgence while I read it. The editorial reads:

Reasonable Request

> That bills in the Legislature affecting Philadelphia's government are of sufficient importance to justify a public hearing was admitted when a hearing was called for February 15.
> Complaints are now being heard, however, that really there was no hearing. A few days before the date set, it was announced that compromises had been reached between civic agencies and political and legislative backers of the bills, and that the bills would be redrawn on a number of points.
> So those who took the trouble to go to Harrisburg found themselves discussing drafts which were scheduled to be withdrawn, and did not know what would be in the new drafts.
> Since then the situation has undergone further shifts. Alleged compromises have not held, and various changes not agreed to have been made.
> There is truth to the charge that opportunities to discuss the bills in substantially their present form have not been given.
> There was so little that was definite to talk about at the February hearing that it is small wonder the meeting degenerated into name calling. Right now it does not seem an unreasonable request that another hearing be staged, preferably in Philadelphia. Needless to say, its usefulness would depend upon the extent to which it was dedicated to developing legislative and civic illumination rather than political temperature.

Mr. Speaker, the Republican organization of Philadelphia, after first giving an opportunity to illuminate or give a little illumination to the citizenry of Philadelphia, has suddenly decided to call a blackout.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, said that the so-called new leadership of Philadelphia had decided to go ahead and live up to their obligations of public trust, and I charge that the steps that have been taken in the last few days to rush this legislation through has been an attempt to violate that public trust. Actually the leadership of Philadelphia does not trust the public. If they did, they would offer them an opportunity to appear and present their views on this legislation.

These organizations of Philadelphia are not partisan organizations they are organizations that are dedicated to improving public government, and God knows we need it in Philadelphia. They are comprised of men mostly in executive positions and of the opposite party, the majority party. They themselves have ventured the opinion that they want this opportunity to appear before this Legislature and present their views. When the gentleman from Philadelphia stated that they had an opportunity to do so, he knows very well that such an opportunity was not properly afforded them. We trust the people of Philadelphia; the Democratic party trusts the people of the city of Philadelphia. The Majority party knows that if they desire to be trusted by the people of Philadelphia, they should make recommendations to the Legislature and give them an opportunity to deliberate on the same. We should take time to deliberate this matter properly; we cannot accept the amendments of the Senate without any opportunity of having our membership properly informed.

I myself did not have an opportunity to read this bill, as there were so many changes made in fast fashion that it would have taken an hour to read the bill,—a twenty-five page bill. The gentleman knows that the civic organizations did not have an opportunity to go ahead and peruse the bill in its final form. They have indicated to us that they want an opportunity to appear before us, and I think that we would be derelict in our duty as legislators if we did not go ahead and afford to these groups who desire home rule in Philadelphia an opportunity to appear before us. Consequently, I ask the Membership of this House to support this motion to recommit in order that an opportunity may be afforded of having a public hearing.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Philadelphia say that the Philadelphia Inquirer has been supporting city—county consolidation and home rule?

Mr. ROSE. I would say they have, Mr. Speaker, and I think that the action taken by the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Bulletin, as well as some of the civic agencies supported these changes to be made in the city-county consolidation bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I wonder if the gentleman has read this morning's editorial in the Philadelphia Inquirer. It is headlined "Give The Philadelphia Merger Bills Final Push To Passage". The editorial goes on to say—I do not want to bother the House with reading all of this but I would like to read the last paragraph, which is as follows:

> "The two measures that are now in the House need only one more push to send them to passage. The House should give that push promptly."
> I think certainly if the Philadelphia Inquirer prints an editorial such as that, that the time has come to press these bills to final action.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in response to the gentleman's inquiry as to whether I read this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer, I might point out to him that I just got a copy of this bill yesterday and I do not believe that many Members of the House have had an opportunity to read it. All last night I studied the bill, and did not have an opportunity to read the editorial.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support Mr. Scanlon's motion to recommit Senate Bill 5.

I have listened with great interest to the exchange between Mr. Rose and Mr. Smith. Certain conclusions came to my mind. I notice that there has been very much said about civic agencies supporting this or supporting that; this is the bill that this civic organization wants or that that civic organization wants. I also heard Mr. Smith point out that the Philadelphia Inquirer this morning supports the present bill, Senate Bill 5.

I would feel much happier if I heard more talk about what the people want. Just recently,—our memories are not so short,—last November nearly ninety-nine percent of your editorialists, your newspaper columnists and all others who were supposedly speaking as to what the sentiment of the people was at that time, were treated to a great surprise. Thy all awakened the following day with red faces. Now, if we want to know what bills the people want, isn't it a very simple thing to hold a hearing, a public hearing, and ask the people to come to us and let us know what they want? I will not accept any newspaper statement or editorial or any other expert on public opinion, as to the sentiment thereon without going to the people. I think we have a most historic example of how wrong so-called experts can be on what people think and on public sentiment. Therefore, it is crucially important that we have a resubmission of this bill to our Committee of the House and we give an opportunity to the people through their spokesmen to appear before the Committee and speak their sentiment thereon. That hearing may be held either here or in Philadelphia.

Just on Monday twelve nations of the North Atlantic group met and assembled to sign a very historic document known as the North Atlantic Pact. We in the United States are taking this most historic step in our foreign policy, entering into alliances with other countries in time of peace in order to insure that there shall be no iron curtain against the voice of the people. I think it would be wise to reflect upon the significance of that historic move and try in good faith to shape our own actions and our own activities in compliance and in conformity with the need to abolish that iron curtain.

Should we not reflect that there are forty-one representatives from Philadelphia in this House? Of the forty-one, the overwhelming preponderance or the majority thereof, to the number of twenty-six, represent one party, the Democratic party. A minority represents the Republican party, twenty-six Democrats as against fifteen Republicans from the city and county of Philadelphia.

This bill, Mr. Speaker, providing for home rule in Philadelphia is a matter which particularly interests and appertains to all forty-one members from Philadelphia, fifteen from the minority and twenty-six from the majority. Should they not be more conciliating than they have been?

As a member of the Committee which considered this bill, I was astounded, appalled and horified to see that such an important piece of legislation was reported out of Committee without any discussion within a matter of a space of thirty-three seconds. Gentlemen, we are preaching democratic principles and we are preaching democracy. Let us try to conform to our preachments in this day and age. Let not any organization dedicated to the people of such a fundamental character as this, give summary consideration or none consideration in the short space of thirty seconds. So, I say in all fairness to the gentlemen of the other counties of the state to go along with the majority, the overwhelming majority of the representatives from Philadelphia. We of the majority ask you to support this motion and have the measure recommitted for a public hearing, no matter what your political affiliation may be.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, at the risk of prolonging the debate which I certainly do not intend to do and keep the Members in their seats, the gentleman from Philadelphia asks what the people want. He knows full well what the people want, they want home rule. That is what this bill gives them. He said he did not care for the opinions of the newspapers. I have always been of the opinion that the newspapers reacted to public opinion and reflected public opinion. We of the Republican party have promised the people of the city of Philadelphia that we would give them home rule and we are giving it to them in this bill. They want this bill and I ask that this motion be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. GUARNIERI and ROSE offered the following amendments:

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that there are no objections on the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rose, to permit the reading of the amendments to all of the sections so that they may be considered as a whole in order to conserve the time of the House.

There being no objections, all the amendments will be read.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend Sec. 16, page 18, line 8, by striking out the word "appointment" and inserting in lieu thereof; "election".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments to section 2?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia put forth come crocodile tears a few moments ago about home rule.

He expounded the desire of the majority party of Philadelphia to provide real home rule for the citizens of Philadelphia. The bill as originally passed by the Senate provides first of all, for the appointment of a charter commission. Now, all of those who have been interested in civic reform in Philadelphia, the majority of the groups who have for the past ten or twelve years been asking for an opportunity to get the proper home rule in Philadelphia, have asked that the citizens of Philadelphia be afforded an opportunity to elect a charter commission. The proponents of this measure have unwisely provided for the appointment of a charter commission. The tenor of our amendments is that there shall be an election of the charter commission.

Mr. Speaker, since the Evans charter commission was formed in 1937 at the instance of the University of Pennsylvania, professors who are interested in providing a decent charter for Philadelphia have expounded the need for the election of a charter commission. It seems to me that the majority party in Philadelphia just does not trust the electorate; they are fearful that if individuals are elected to the charter commission they may place in the proposed charter measures that will interfere with the rule that they have exercised for the past sixty years; they might go ahead and promulgate policies to be placed into the charter that might very well lead the way to the elimination of the rule that this party has had over the citizens of Philadelphia for many years.

We consequently ask in this amendment that there be afforded an opportunity to the citizens of Philadelphia to elect a charter commission. It is true that the bill provides for the appointment of a charter commission, some members of whom will be members of the minority party, but we feel that the citizens of Philadelphia should be given this opportunity to elect not only the members of the minority party but the members of the majority party on this commission. We have no objection to a bi-partisan representation on the commission but we certainly are desirous of giving the people who have been clamoring for a new city charter an opportunity to determine who will be the individuals who will help formulate such a charter.

Secondly, we provide in these amendments for a provision in this bill whereby the city council, in the event proposed amendments will be offered in the future, shall not have an opportunity to screen and cast aside the avowed will of twenty thousand signatures, twenty thousand individuals who sign a petition for a proposed charter.

If the gentleman was interested in giving the citizens of Philadelphia an opportunity to determine whether there should be changes in the charter, he certainly would not advocate a veto power by city council that we are granting them here.

I submit to you, Members of the House, that under the provisions that exist in this bill we do not have home rule, but we have council rule. We have conditions existing in Philadelphia today with which the people of Philadelphia are thoroughly disgusted. Attempts to put a cloak of decency about this has not met with too wide approval of the electorate of Philadelphia, and this organization shows their wide spread distrust of the people of Philadelphia when they go ahead and give this veto to city council. I feel that if the citizens of Philadelphia were given an opportunity they would wisely advocate necessary changes.

It is conceded by the introduction of this bill and by the pressure for the passage of this bill, that we are well behind the times and that there must be a change in the charter. In ten or fifteen years in this atomic age, we must expect such changed conditions that will warrant additional changes in the charter, and the bill provides for the initiation of proposed changes by the signatures of twenty thousand individuals of the city. I say if twenty thousand individuals desire some change why should that not be submitted to the electorate?

I want to point out to the Members of the House that the initiation of any proposed change would still have to be submitted to the electorate for ratification and approval. The entire citizenry would be afforded an opportunity to vote on any proposed changes where initiated by a petition signed by twenty thousand individuals. However, the city council felt that the citizens in their wrath might encroach upon their perogatives and might very well turn down any proposed change that is offered.

Secondly, we are asking by the amendment that I have presented for an opportunity to present any proposed changes and have them submitted to the electorate without this action on the part of city council.

Finally we are affording by this amendment I have offered that any proposed change which may be offered by the electorate in the years to come, be submitted to the citizenry at a general election. The majority party of Philadelphia has shown again that they distrust the people. They know that the majority of the citizens go out and vote in general elections, and even there they would be screened. They simply go ahead and provide that the elections be held on the primary election day or some day fixed by council. We feel that any future changes that will be submitted, should be submitted at a regular general election.

Now, Mr. Speaker, home rule is something that the citizens want in Philadelphia. We here finally have an opportunity to present to them a chance to make any changes in the charter which will be beneficial to all the citizens of our city.

I submit that the bill as presently drawn without the amendments which were offered will take away some element of home rule from it, and if the gentlemen were honestly interested in home rule they would support these amendments, and I ask the Members of this House who desire to give the people of Philadelphia a decent charter to support the amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, when the devil is sick the devil a saint would be; when the devil is well, the devil a saint is he. Not so many months ago the political leaders from Philadelphia of the dominant party were really in in extremis. They faced a desperate situation. They were not exactly certain whether they were going or coming. They were menaced by an uprising of a militant citizenry, and then the high command went into conference. In many respects I have to admire the adroit leadership of the Philadelphia organization; they can cut a political program with the greatest of skill, with the least evidence of blood of any municipal organization within the confines of this Republic. In Chicago the dominant organization, whether Democratic or Republican, slugs them. In New York the dominant organization slugs its way through. In the great city of Philadelphia they have greater finesse, and never has that finesse been more beautifully exemplified than at the present time as embodied in the present bill. Faced with this militant citizenry, the leaders of the dominant organization in Philadelphia finally evolved a plan: "The militant citizenry of Philadelphia in revolt is in a shooting mood, what shall be do?" That was the problem that faced the leadership in Philadelphia. Finally, some genius, I don't know whether it is the Majority Whip, evolved the bright idea—where it was the Philadelphia Chairman or some obscure member of the organization said: "You know what we will do with this militant uprising citizenry, we will give them a wooden gun" and say, "You just take this wooden gun and go out and do all the shooting you want to." The wooden gun, Mr. Speaker, is the right to propose, and the strangle hold is the right that council maintains to discard. The situation in Philadelphia is not altered one iota by the bill, if passed. It is a beautiful piece of deception and a wonderful bit of political strategy. You know, Mr. Speaker, the captain of a ship when a storm comes, does not fly in the face of the storm. He runs it out until the force of the tempest is spent. In some way the liberal element in Philadelphia exploded its bomb too soon.

We would face a different situation in this House if developments that happened a year ago or a couple of years ago happened just two months ago, and we would face a different attitude on the part of the Philadelphia organization, if all these scandals that have broken in their face had just broken yesterday. But when the storm came they just trimmed their sails, they battened the hatches, they sailed before the wind, and they just let the militant citizen talk.

Now, Mr. Speaker, they are armed with a wooden gun. I say, it is a clever bit of strategy. Maybe they can get away with it this time but sooner or later the people of Philadelphia are going to wake up and appreciate the fact that while the political organization does have a wooden gun, it is a deadly thing in operation in the midst of a great municipality.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the proposed amendments. First, let us ask ourselves again before we vote thereon the substance of the amendments.

For one thing we propose to amend the bill so that the charter commission which will draw up a new charter in Philadelphia, shall be an elected body, elected by the citizenry at large, instead of being a body appointed by the present city council of Philadelphia.

In the second instance, we propose to amend Senate Bill 5 to the end that future proposed amendments to any city charter, proposed and made by the citizenry of Philadelphia, shall be voted upon by the citizens without a veto, without a councilmanic veto, over the proposed vote of the citizenry for amendment. Those in substance are the two broad amendments.

We have heard very much recently in world affairs about these veto powers, and even in international relations we know that the exercise of the veto politically used can make futile all attempts at cooperative and democratic organization in international relations, and the same thing is true in our own domestic field. I would say this matter can be approached on principles and on practice, and perhaps if your present city council of Philadelphia was representative of the overwhelming majority of the people of Philadelphia, in practice perhaps it would be not a danger for such a body to appoint a commission to draw up a charter. That is the practical aspect.

Secondly, there is the principle aspect, the theory or principle, whether it be in conformity with our principle that any important constitutional body which is setting out to rewrite the fundamental and the basic law of a great municipality shall be a hand picked one or whether it should be an elected one. In principle, I don't believe anyone, any statesman, any politician or any representative here, could argue against the principle that any matter affecting the fundamental law should be acted upon by a truly representative body elected by the people. Next as far as the practical aspect is concerned, I say that perhaps there may not be a danger in allowing the commission to be appointed, if the present city council was truly representative of the people of Philadelphia But it is not. You gentlemen from the outlying districts or the outlying counties or areas around Philadelphia should remember and bear this in mind, that the present city council in Philadelphia consists of twenty-one members, all of whom are members of one party—twenty-one members, all members of one party. Truly such a city council and also a mayor of the same party do not represent an overwhelming number of voters; nearly a majority of the people of Philadelphia are of the Democratic party, all of whom have no representation in city council. Also reflect that this present Republican administration in city council and the mayor in Philadelphia, represent an organization entrenched in Philadelphia for a period of nearly seventy years. These gentlemen have the effrontery to ask us to permit them to perpetuate themselves in power by appointing by their own hand a charter commission to rewrite the basic and fundamental law for the people of Philadelphia.

I say in all fairness to yourselves, examine your conscience and determine for yourselves how unconscionable it would be for a group which has fastened its tentacles on this fair city of ours for a period of nearly a century, to come here and ask that it alone be permitted to make the proposed charter for the city of Philadelphia, that the city council be permitted to veto any proposed amendments to the charter that the people may present. It may seem a laughing matter to some, but, gentlemen, when we reflect upon the fundamentals of our body politic we will see for ourselves that it is not a slight matter, but it is important. I don't have to say to you, gentlemen, that power feeds upon power. Any organization, any political organization, or any non-political organization whatever it may be, having the power in the present instance, will only seek to perpetuate itself.

I might say that it would be a natural sociological process or a natural law that power should seek to perpetuate itself. We as reflecting individuals must recognize that; we must also recognize the dangers that lie therein. Of course, it is very comfortable for us or any one party which may be in power at one time to feel well satisfied and very elated that it has means at that particular moment to perpetuate itself. But, reflect, gentlemen, that on the precedent we set today, an evil precedent may in turn be used against us in the future, and that principle I would state, not only for one party but for all, is a fundamental principle of government. The price of liberty, the price of republican institutions, is eternal vigilance. The price thereof is unending self sacrifice. It is easy for us to perpetuate oureslves today, but at the same time we destroy our institutions. We must to perpetuate our system of government indulge in some self sacrifice for our principles of self government. I say to the Republican party, the majority party, do not deceive yourselves in attempting to perpetuate yourselves—do not deceive yourselves by setting a very dangerous precedent. There have been other instances historically where bodies have enacted self perpetuating measures such as this.

I will not take up your time, I think you know what I mean—don't deny to the people of Philadelphia the general well being and welfare of the city. I say to you let us not in the city of Philadelphia perpetuate the yoke of one-party rule which you shall do if we do not support the amendments at this time.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, first of all let me say I will be brief. We feel that we should in the city of Philadelphia give the appointive power to council and the mayor of this city for several reasons.

First of all, there are a lot of outstanding and prominent people of the city of Philadelphia who definitely would not indulge in a political battle. That is not only true of the minority group; that is also true of the majority side.

Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen have failed to say, however, that we in Philadelphia in formulating this bill have given minority representation. One gentleman did mention that we have twenty-one councilmen, that is true, but this commission will consist of fifteen members of the Republican party and five Members of the Democratic or minority party. We feel that by doing this, by the appointive power, we will have a fair representation not only of the majority side but also of the minority side.

Again, let me say that we feel that we have the home rule process where the mayor and council have been definitely elected by the city of Philadelphia. Who, better than they, can select the charter commission?

I would like to say that I definitely do not want to get into a debate with the Minoriy Leader, as I recognize his ability, but I would like to remind him and the other members of the House, that what he calls a screening process by having council screen twenty thousand signers of the petition. He mentioned this is a strangle hold. That may be true but we in this House of Representatives, have that same strangle hold in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides that there cannot be an amendment to the Constitution unless we in this house vote for it at two successive sessions. We are not asking any more for Philadelphia than the regulations of our great Commonwealth. You know that all constitutional amendments have to pass two consecutive sessions. We are only asking for the same thing in Philadelphia. I will mention again that on the petition of twenty-thousand people, that is two per cent of the people of Philadelphia, less than two per cent—twenty thousand people are not too many people. We could have that many people every month if they were not screened by city council. I believe that the amendments to this bill are bad, and I ask you to vote them down.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman was in error when he said there was no mention of the fact that there would be minority representation on the charter commission, as proposed in this bill. I definitely said that while the bill does provide for the appointment of minority members we felt that the minority, as well as the majority members should be elected by the electorate. The gentleman also stated that he felt that the council should have an opportunity to screen.

Mr. Speaker, as I pointed out previously, we have faith and confidence in the people of Philadelphia. If the proposed amendments for the charter were unwise or unwieldy in nature, something not for the benefit of the citizens of Philadelphia, the people would have an opportunity to vote on it. We trust the people. I say that the proponents of this measure, the majority party, do not trust the people. Because they feel that this little group in the city council who have earned the utter disgust and the ire of the citizenry of Philadelphia are the ones who will determine what amendments shall be submitted to the voters. I say that the people of Philadelphia in their ultimate wisdom would not accept measures that are inimical to their welfare.

The gentleman referred to an editorial in this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer. He also states that the civil organizations of Philadelphia were in favor of this measure. May I point out that there has been called to my attention an article in this morning's Inquirer, and if the gentleman had not been too busy perusing the editorial page and the women's page, he could have pointed out that Lewis M. Stevens, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the greater Philadelphia movement, yesterday criticized the Republican bill for giving the voters no voice in making recommendations in the basic law. The article goes on to say:

> "Lewis M. Stevens, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the greater Philadelphia movement, yesterday criticized the Republican Lord Bill for 'giving the voters no vote' in making direct amendments to the basic law of the city.
> "In a three hundred and thirty word telegram sent to the State legislature, Stevens declared, 'the Lord bill in its present form is definitely unsatisfactory to the greater Philadelphia movement and to all Philadelphia civic agencies.'
> "Stevens proposed changes in the Lord Bill that would make it possible for the voters here to supersede the veto of council on amendments to the constitution."

Mr. Speaker, that is what our amendment proposes to do. We are following the recommendation of the civic agencies, and Mr. Stevens represents the greater Philadelphia movement. I submit, if the Members of the House are really interested in good government and home rule they should support these amendments. If they want to go along with their skullduggery and their present tactics, they will vote down these amendments.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, just one word; if the gentleman, Mr. Stevens, wants to be consistent, I would suggest that he write an amendment to the United States Constitution and to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 577, Printer's No. 392

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 597, as follows:

An Act to further amend section two hundred two of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" by requiring additional signatures on petitions for incorporation in certain cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section two hundred two of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" as reenacted and amended by the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1621) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 202 Applications for Incorporation The application for incorporation shall be by a petition signed by a majority of the freeholders residing within the limits of the proposed borough which signatures must be secured within three months immediately preceding the presentation thereof to the court Such petition shall be subscribed by and sworn to by at least one of the signers The number of signers required to the petition shall be ascertained as of the date the petition was presented to court

In the event that such towns or villages are part of an existing city borough or township and such city borough or township or the school district thereof has any bonded indebtedness whatsoever then in such event such petition must be signed not only by a majority of the freeholders residing within the proposed borough but also by a majority of the freeholders residing within the said city borough or township The provisions of this amendment shall apply to proceedings now pending in any court of this Commonwealth as well as to those hereafter commenced

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me on the question of a borough being incorporated from any part of a township today, what procedure will be taken about the indebtedness?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Does the gentleman mean under the present law, if a particular area of a township desires to have themselves formed into a borough,—is that the gentleman's question?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. No, Mr. Speaker, in the case of a borough or city annexing any part of the township, what procedure is taken?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, this House and Senate recently passed House Bill No. 321, which states that if a part of a township is to be annexed to a borough or city, that the freeholders in that area, in the township, must sign a petition.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, the people of the area that is proposed to create the borough,—that they sign the petition,—is that right?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman speaking of creating a borough or annexing it?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, creating a borough out of a part of a township.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean under the present law creating a borough?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Yes, creating a borough.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, the present law is that in making a change to a borough the petition must be signed by a majority of the freeholders in that area only.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, what does the gentleman's bill do in the case of the creation of a borough?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, my bill merely states that in the creation of a borough out of a township, where the township has a bonded indebtedness, that the petition must be signed by a majority of the freeholders of the entire township.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, suppose the township has quite a few assets and no indebtedness, then what does the gentleman do?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I didn't quite get the gentleman's question. Would he mind repeating his question?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, supposing the township is not in debt.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Does the gentleman mean that there is no indebtedness on the township?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, this bill does not apply.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, we are going to take up the question of a borough created from a township, and the township has an indebtedness, what procedure is taken?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, if there is a bonded indebtedness in the township and the borough comes out of that township, this bill will apply and it will require the signature of the majority of the freeholders in the township.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, what would the gentleman do with the indebtedness today if the borough is created out of a township and they have a large debt in the township?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe under Section 701 of the present borough code it requires assessors to assess the value of land taken into the borough, and the new borough must take over a certain percentage of the township indebtedness.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, in other words, if there is a borough created today from a township, does not the council of the borough sit down with the township supervisors or the township commissioners, and if there is forty percent of the valuation taken from the township, then the borough accepts forty percent of the indtebtedness, is that right today?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That is my understanding, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on line 18 of the gentleman's bill, page 2, it says "school districts." In other words, if the township is not in debt and the school district has a debt and they want to create a borough out of a part of it, then you would have to get the signatures of the freeholders in that borough which is created, plus the signatures of the freeholders in the opposition, is that right, in order to create a borough?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, where does the school district enter into the picture of the creation of a borough, city, or township?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, may I answer the gentleman in this manner, that when a borough is formed from a township, I would say that ninety-nine and nine tenths percent of the time they end up with the result that the old school district is left holding the bag.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That is all. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, in answer to the gentleman on the question of the school district, in the creation of any borough, the school district does not enter into the picture until after the borough is created. It doesn't make any difference whether the school district is in debt or whether it is not in debt. After the borough is created the borough can apply to the State Educational Board for the right to have their own school district, and in the past twenty years that I know of the State Educational Board always said "no", it does not create any new school district. In the creation of the borough that I live in today, taken from a part of Versailles Township, we had thirty-four percent of the valuation of the township, and we had to take thirty-four percent of the debt of that township. On the question of the school district five years ago the State Educational Board in Harrisburg said "we shall not" and I believe the law in the school code tells you "we shall not have our own school district", which means that while we are living in the borough of Eden Park, we remain in Versailles Township school district.

Mr. Speaker, under House Bill 597, to create a borough you have to go over and ask the people living in the township who are strongly opposed to the creation of that borough, to sign a petition to allow you to have a borough. As far as the school district entering into it, under House Bill 597 there are two different functions of your borough government and your school government. I think if House Bill 597 were passed it would be impossible to create a borough in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I ask you to vote against House Bill 597.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 597 is somewhat of a companion bill to the annexation in townships as I understand it. When the bill was before us I asked the question whether or not any particular group of people in that township could form a borough, and the answer I got was that they could. Therefore, I voted for that bill on the ground that the people still had the right to live under whatever form of government they saw fit.

Under this particular bill I find now they close the door on these people on creating a borough of their own. The present law makes them responsible for a certain amount of indebtedness if they do form a borough, but they go a step further and say that you must have the signatures of the majority of the township people for them to form there own borough. So, therefore, I think this is bad legislation and I will vote against it.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, to echo the words of the gentleman from Westmoreland, I might say "lets be fair." It has been the constant practice in this state from time immemorial for boroughs and cities to constantly raid townships. They have no regard for people who live in the townships and are left with the unused or unusable land, who still have to carry on township work, who still have to pay the township bills, who still have to pay to keep up the township roads, the police force and firemen. This bill is an attempt to level off the rights of both parties. This bill attempts to give to the people who live in the township definite notice when this raiding is going on. If the people in the proposed boroughs have a good argument and can appease the other people living in the township who are presently being hurt, then this will not under any circumstance prevent the formation of an additional borough.

I ask the Members of this House to take this question under consideration and vote for the bill to give to these people yet remaining in the townships the right to have a voice in whether a township will be raided.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I say again "lets be fair." The gentleman will recall that I voted for his bill to prohibit the annexation of boroughs in townships, is that not correct?

Mr. ROBERTSON. No, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did not vote for my bill; it was Mr. Propert's bill.

Mr. LOVETT. It is the same bill that we are speaking about now?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Yes, House Bill 321.

Mr. LOVETT. That is right, I did vote for that bill.

Mr. ROBERTSON. I assume that the gentleman did vote for the bill, I don't know. I accept his word for it.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I say "lets be fair." I agree with the gentleman on the raiding of townships by boroughs and cities and I voted for a bill to prohibit that raiding of the townships by cities and boroughs, but at the time the bill passed I stated or asked the question, if the people still had the right to whatever form of government they preferred to live under, any particular group in the township, and they told me at that time that they would. But today, under this bill, you cannot, unless you have the entire vote of the township to agree with what you want to do. So, therefore, "lets be fair." We did vote to protect the raiding of the townships and now we are asked to vote to prohibit the people from having the form of government that they want for themselves.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, on page three of the gentleman's bill, line 3, it says as follows:

> "The provisions for this amendment shall apply to proceedings now pending in any court of this Commonwealth, as well as to those hereafter commenced."

Is there some case now pending in the Superior Court or in the local courts of the states, intended to be taken care of by the passage of this act?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe that there is a case presently pending before the Delaware County courts.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is trying to get the Legislature to do something that will take away from the courts, trying to force the courts to accept the opinion of the Legislature by this type of legislation?

Mr. ROBERTSON. No, that is not right, Mr. Speaker. What this bill attempts to do is to change the procedure which the courts are bound to follow.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, the reason I called this matter to the attention of the Members of the House is the fact that too often bills come into this Legislature when here are pending cases in court, in order to take out of the courts the right to decide something in matters of this type brought before these courts. That is true especially where a dispute goes on between different organizations in the courts.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section seven of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 1024) entitled "An act to protect the public health and welfare by regulating the employment of females in certain establishments with respect to their hours of labor and the conditions of their employment by establishing certain sanitary regulations in the establishments in which they work by requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted by providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry and others by prescribing penalties for violations thereof by defining the procedure in prosecutions and by repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions thereof" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 389) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 7 No female shall be employed or permitted to work for more than five hours continuously in or in connection with any establishment without a meal or rest period of at least thirty minutes which period shall not be considered a part of the hours of labor and no period of less than thirty minutes shall be deemed to interrupt a continuous period of work

Employes shall not be required to remain in the workrooms during the meal or rest periods required by this section [Provided however That where the strict application of the thirty minutes' meal or rest period impedes or interferes with the war effort the Department of Labor and Industry with the approval of the Industrial Board may suspend the provisions of this section]

Section 2 Section eighteen of said act as amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 617) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 18 Any person who whether by himself or for another or through an agent servant or foreman shall violate any provisions of this act shall be subject to the following penalties

Upon conviction for violation of any provision of sections three four five six or seven of this act he shall be punished for a first offense by a fine of not less than ten ($10) dollars and costs or more than fifty ($50) dollars and costs and upon nonpayment thereof be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than ten days for a second or subsequent offense by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars and costs or more than two hundred ($200) dollars and costs and upon nonpayment thereof by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty days and whenever any person shall have been notified by the Department of Labor and Industry or by the service of a summons in a prosecution that he is violating such provision he shall be punished by like penalties in addition for each and every day that such violation shall have continued after such notification

Upon conviction for a violation of any of the provisions of sections eight nine ten eleven twelve thirteen fourteen or fifteen of this act the punishment shall be without regard to the number of females employed for a first offense not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars and costs or more than fifty ($50) dollars and costs and upon nonpayment thereof imprisonment in the county jail for not more than twenty days for a second or subsequent offense a fine or not less than fifty ($50) dollars and costs or more than two hundred ($200) dollars and costs and upon nonpayment thereof imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty days and whenever any person shall have been notified by the Department of Labor and Industry that he is violating such provisions and shall have been given a reasonable time in which to remedy the condition which shall constitute such violation he shall be punished in addition to the penalties aforesaid by like penalties for each and every day that such violation shall have continued after the expiration of the time allowed by the Department of Labor and Industry for remedying the aforesaid condition Provided

First That any person who shall demand evidence such as shall be required by law for the issuing of employment certificates to minors that any applicant for employment or permission to work in or in connection with his establishment is [twenty-one] eighteen years of age and shall receive the same before employing or permitting such applicant to work and who shall have kept the same on file and in the case of such applicant shall have complied with all the requirements of this act applying to a female of the age stated in such evidence of age shall not be liable to punishment for the violation of section five of this act though it shall subsequently appear that such applicant was in fact less than [twenty-one] eighteen years of age Provided That this provision shall not apply to any person who shall demand and receive the evidence herein provided for if he knows at the time of receiving such evidence that the applicant is in fact less than [twenty-one] eighteen years of age nor shall this provision prevent the punishment of any person for violating section five of this act after knowledge of the true age of the female employed

Section Whenever a violation of any provision of this act shall also be a violation of another provision or other provisions of this act penalties may be imposed for the violation of each and every such provision

Third That under no circumstances shall any person be sentenced to imprisonment for more than one year for any one violation of this act

Fourth That whenever a violation of any of the provisions of this act shall also be a violation of the laws of this Commonwealth regulating the hours of labor and conditions of employment of minors penalties shall be imposed under only one of such acts

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, now that we have had an opportunity to express our thoughts on this bill, it can be said that this bill in a manner is a supplement to House Bill 35, which passed and became a law in the 1947 session. Those of you who were here in the 1947 session will recall that bill because it emasculated the female working law in this state by increasing the number of hours per week, by increasing the number of hours per day, permitting around the clock work, and we have changed the age requirement from twenty-one to eighteen years. The bill which we are now considering changes the age requirement from twenty-one to eighteen years and it applies to the penalty provisions of the bill. I want to be consistent in my position with respect to House Bill 35. As a matter of principle I oppose the passing of this bill and will vote accordingly.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct when he said it changed the Act with regard to women workers in certain industries, but it only changes the age from twenty one to eighteen years in the penalty provisions of the law. In 1947 the age was lowered from twenty one to eighteen years. All this bill does is to correct an inconsistency in the act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection (b) of section one thousand two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors streets cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. Commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors V and W classes [thirty-five] fifty-five miles per hour

All other commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors [thirty] fifty miles per hour

All combinations of commercial motor vehicles or truck tractors and trailers or semi-trailers [thirty] fifty miles per hour

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain its effect.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's inquiry and for the information of the other Members of the House, this bill proposes to make uniform speed limits for all vehicles at fifty miles per hour. It does not affect passenger cars, which is fifty miles an hour now. It does affect the speed of buses and commercial motor vehicles. At the present time there are five or six classifications of commercial motor vehicles and buses.

I will give you the present rates of speed. Of course this bill would modify it to fifty miles an hour. Commercial motor vehicles, according to the license definition are commercial motor vehicles, light type, which does not change at all. The speed limit of that now is fifty miles an hour and remains at that figure. Motor buses and omnibuses are now forty-five miles an hour, and the bill provides for fifty. As to commercial motor vehicles of the classes "S", "T" and "U", that is the license classes, the limit is now forty miles an hour, and it is changed to fifty miles. As to commercial motor vehicles of the type "V" and "W", the speed limit is now thirty miles an hour and is now raised to fifty miles an hour. Commercial motor vehicles, trucks, tractors and others are now thirty miles an hour. This would make it fifty miles an hour. All combinations are now thirty miles an hour and this would make it fifty miles an hour. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Frost.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FROST. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman's bill reduce the speed of trucks on the turnpike?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, the trucks on the Turnpike, the present law is twenty miles an hour more than the speeds that I have just read. For instance, the "R" type of light truck is fifty miles an hour. The present law is seventy, and the proposed speed in this bill is seventy. It does not change the present speed. For instance, "S", "T", and "U" classes, it is forty miles an hour now, and on the turnpike it is twenty miles more, or sixty miles an hour. The next class "V" and "W", it is thirty-five miles regular, and on the Turnpike it is twenty miles more, or fifty-five. It does not increase any of the speeds on the Turnpike at all.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, under the gentleman's bill, they still operate at a speed of seventy miles an hour on the Turnpike?

Mr. FROST. Light trucks of the "R" type as they are now, there is no change. They are permitted fifty miles an hour outside of the Turnpike, and they are permitted twenty miles more on the Turnpike. Therefore, they are permitted seventy miles an hour under this act. There is no change on the Turnpike affected by this bill.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, just what vehicles in general are affected and what increased speeds are allowed?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, the heavier commercial motor vehicles and buses are affected. As I have said, buses are now forty-five miles an hour and this bill would permit fifty miles an hour. Heavy trucks that are thirty-five and thirty would be permitted fifty miles per hour under this bill.

Mr. STUART. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we ought to consider very carefully increasing the speeds of commercial vehicles on the highways. Last week we passed the big truck bill, and now we are speaking in terms of human life. We can repair shattered trucks but we cannot always repair shattered human bodies or loss of life.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say two things. First all motor vehicles, whether passenger or commercial are regulated by subsection "A" and subsection "B" of section 1002. Subsection "A" has not been changed. It is the same if this bill is passed as it is now. It provides that no motor vehicle shall be driven under any conditions, taking into consideration the road surface, the width of the road and it provides that it shall be driven prudently and not at any time be so driven as to endanger life. That, of course, is the same as it is at the present time.

Second, in 1947 the Legislature authorized the Joint State Government Commission to set up a committee for the study of the laws on motor vehicles, with the idea of codification and the idea of bringing forth such recommendations within the realm of certainty. This bill is the result of the study of that commission and the recommendations of that committee.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Frost.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FROST. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Centre drive an automobile?

Mr. FROST. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I do. I drive at it, anyway.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman at any time been successful in passing a commercial truck at forty-five miles an hour?

Mr. FROST. I did not quite get the gentleman's question.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I say, has the gentleman at any time been successful in passing a commercial truck going forty-five miles an hour?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, if they were running forty-five miles an hour, I would have.

Mr. FILO. Do they run forty-five miles an hour?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, that is not the purpose of this bill. I don't know—I do not think that is pertinent to the bill. I don't know how fast they run. I never timed them. Possibly, some of them do run that fast, faster than forty-five miles an hour but I do not think that is germane to the bill.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, not in defense of this bill but merely by way of explanation, the Committee of the Joint State Government Commission took testimony and discussed this matter in the interest of groups, and it was the result of the study of that committee that the idea of moving all traffic at a uniform rate of speed would be in the interest of safety.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read and considered as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1949.

Friend of many, enemy of none. Closely associated with the House of Representatives is a man who has held this enviable position over a span of two score years of reporting the political news and activities of the Commonwealth.

First assigned as a Capitol Hill reporter in the Spring of 1909 he has faithfully and impartially reported political news through the administration of Governors Stuart, Tener, Brumbaugh, Sproul, both Pinchot terms, Fisher, Earle, James, Martin, Bell and Duff.

Becoming a member of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents Association in 1911, he served as its President for the 1929-1930 term and today is the beloved and respected dean of the association.

Well known and widely read, his acute and interesting "political gleanings" reflect the knowledge and maturity of a man well versed in the political affairs of the Commonwealth and the Nation.

This month, being the fortieth anniversary of continuous reporting of political news and events by this friend and associate, it is fitting and proper that the House of Representatives give official voice to that which the members, as individuals, feel in their hearts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend to Charles G. Miller, the beloved dean of the Capitol Hill newspaper correspondents their sincere congratulations on this the fortieth anniversary of his career and their best wishes that he may continue as an associate and a friend for the many more years that lie before him.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. It is a sobering thought, at least as far as I am concerned, that perhaps Charles Miller and myself are the only two men active either in the newspaper business or active in some other line, who have been in touch with this Hall over the period of forty years.

If you will just stop to think a minute what a pageant of history these men have seen, what Charles Miller has seen and what I have seen in part. All of those we knew, of giant stature in those days, Peter Bolger, John Ball, Walter Christy, and George Brennan, names that were famous in this state—have all gone. Apparently, as I say, as I consult my mind, only Charley Miller and myself are left.

I want to ask the oldest member of this House if he can ever recall a time when Charles Miller ever broke a confidence. I want to ask the oldest Member of this House if he can remember a time when Charley Miller ever broke a promise. I want to ask the oldest Member of this House if he can remember a time when Charley Miller ever wrote an article or any publication from sheer malice. From what I can remember over a period of forty years I can't remember of a broken promise or a broken confidence or an article written in malice. All I can say is that he has been a great newspaperman, but forty years ago he was the dumbest duff I knew in plain talk.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please rise in his place and take a bow?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 877, entitled:

An Act to amend sections five, ten and twenty-two of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 665), entitled "An act relating to the performance of industrial work in homes; regulating, and in certain cases prohibiting, industrial homework; imposing duties, restrictions and liabilities on industrial home-workers and on persons, partnerships, associations and corporations, directly or indirectly furnishing materials and articles to home-workers and for manufacture or work thereon; requiring permits and home-workers' certificates and prescribing the fees therefor; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry; and prescribing penalties," by providing for exemptions in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, several days ago I took a stand against the passage of this bill, I just want to say that I take the same position today as I did a few days ago. I think this is a bad bill in principle; I think it opens the door to sweatshop conditions and it opens the door to a breakdown of the wage structure. At this time I would like to yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Peta.

Mr. PETA. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 877, Printer's No. 376, is a bad bill because I recall the days of the sweatshops for the simple reason that it has no law in it to permit anybody to investigate people that are doing work at home.

You take back in Philadelphia, where we had that kind of work, and in 1942, 1943, and 1944, when the country was at war we gave the people work at home. What happened? They started giving it to other people, the wives who had husbands in the service and babies at home. What happened? They were paying less money than they were paying at a shop and we had to stop that kind of work. So, coming back to this bill again, I wish every Member of this House would vote against this bill because it is a very bad bill and it is going to hurt the labor organizations.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, if there are no objections I ask that this bill be passed over.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 877, Printer's No. 376

was passed over at the request of Mr. BRUNNER.

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1037, Printer's No. 461

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEDERER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to address the members of the House about an issue that is of vital importance to them, the City of Philadelphia and the Governor of this State.

Mr. Speaker: On February 7, 1949, the members of the Community Council of the 18th Ward, together with their president, Mr. William Rowen Grant, requested me to introduce a bill in the House of Representatives for the purpose of making an appropriation to the City of Philadelphia for repairs to the Penn Treaty monument and improvements to the grounds thereof, located in the 18th Ward of the said City of Philadelphia. On March 14th I introduced House Bill No. 1249, Printer's No. 1249. On March 15th the bill was referred to the Committee on Appropriations. Its provisions were as follows:

Whereas, the Society of Penn of the City of Philadelphia in the year of 1827, erected a monument at Columbia Avenue and Beach Street in Philadelphia to commemorate the signing of the treaty between William Penn and the Indians, and

Whereas, said monument has become dilapidated and is rapidly falling into decay, and

Whereas, the Penn Treaty Park in which this monument is located has become extremely run down, the walks broken and the grass completely trampled out, the rest rooms boarded up and the benches and the drinking fountain have disappeared completely. Automobiles are driven in and are parked everywhere. The iron fence used to protect the children by being a barrier between them and the river is in such broken condition that a repetition of death at that spot is quite possible, and

Whereas, it is wise that endearing mementoes marking the prominent events in the history of our Commonwealth should be preserved for all generations as silent, impressive teachers, and

Whereas, it is proper that the spirit manifested by the founder of our state at the making of said treaty in 1682 should command and receive the profound respect of our people, and

Whereas, a generous manner of testifying our respect as aforesaid would be by preserving said monument.

Section 1. The sum of fifty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as is necessary, is hereby appropriated to the City of Philadelphia for the purpose of improving, repairing and restoring Penn Treaty Park on which site said monument is located.

Section 2. A portion of the above appropriation shall be used by the City of Philadelphia for the purpose of keeping a guard at the monument and within the park at such times as it is usually visited by the public.

Section 3. The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately on final enactment.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House: The following day, March 16th, the Philadelphia newspapers published some of the extracts of the bill. The park up to that time belonged to the Bureau of City Property. The following day, this historic shrine which comprises an area of two acres, was transferred to the Bureau of Recreation by a Councilman Phineas Green, who sponsored the ordinance calling for the transfer at the request of some other person without giving any consideration to the community or the City of Philadelphia.

This means another playground to the citizens and at the present time there are enough playgrounds in this area.

Penn Treaty Park is a historic shrine and to my knowledge for the past ten years there was appropriated by the County Commissioners no revenue for its upkeep. History tells us that William Penn made a series of treaties in Shackamaxon Village but the main and famous one was made under a large elm tree where the monument now stands. The City of Philadelphia was laid out on the express orders of the founder, William Penn, and it was the wisdom of William Penn that provided the freedom of worship and political liberty combined with the unusual opportunity for free economic enterprise that made Philadelphia and Pennsylvania a leader in matters of politics, business, industry, art and culture. This treaty lasted seventy years and was the longest treaty made with the Indians in the history of America which relieved the Colonies of hardship and suffering.

Mr. Speaker, in the catalog of Historical sites and remains in Pennsylvania of March, 1949, Treaty Park is not included in the catalog because in my opinion they are ashamed to view this park in the condition that it is in in the present time.

On the left of this House of Representatives chamber is a large painting of that famous treaty made under the old elm tree in the village of Shackamaxon on the Delaware.

Therefore, I am asking the Members of this House, the Minority and Majority Leaders, Senator Meade and the Governor not to permit any person or persons to destroy this historic shrine but on the other hand to help to restore it as a historical shrine, and this bill reported out of Committee.

RESOLUTIONS

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. ROYER, WOOD and BOMBERGER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1949.

The attitude of this House has ever been that the death of a Mother is always a tragedy. It is therefore with the greatest sadness that we attempt to extend condolence to Paul G. Murray.

His Mother, Mrs. Amelia Kready, died at St. Joseph Hospital in Lancaster last Tuesday.

Mrs. Kready was a daughter of John and Elizabeth Good. She was the wife of the late Alfred B. Kready.

A member of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church, she brought the dictates of christianity into her everyday life, and devoted her life to serving others; therefore be it

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I have often been greatly impressed by the evidence of the keen research into governmental problems displayed by the dean of our legislative correspondents, Charles G. Miller of the Harrisburg Evening News. I was never more so impressed than I was with one of his recent articles when I read his column dealing with the efforts being made in other States to meet the problem of communistic encroachments. He pointed out that many States have taken, or have under consideration, steps to deprive communists of benefits of various kinds, including public assistance payments and the like. He further pointed out that no such steps have yet been taken in Pennsylvania.

I have prepared and am submitting a bill to meet this deficiency. In presenting this bill for your earnest consideration, I believe it touches a vital spot in the body politic of Pennsylvania. All of us condemn Communism. None of us wants this evil system to find root in our democratic system. All of us who have enjoyed freedom and liberty under the Christian ethic would never exchange it for the regimentation of atheism, as so powerfully put a short time ago by that eminent British statesman, Winston Churchill.

However, we talk about it and yet do very little. We must find some medium where we can translate words into action. I have such a bill and within it I propose an antidote. Communism thrives only amidst poverty, suppression and disillusionment. It takes strong root amongst the idle and those unfortunately temporarily deprived of employment. Hence, it is imperative that we keep undefiled and truly American the ranks of our people temporarily unemployed and accordingly anyone who advocates the revolutionary overthrow of our Government as a Communist should be denied the help of the government it condemns. This bill will, therefore, in short deny relief, to use the language of the street, "to one who bites the hand that feeds him."
